Alberta Press Fights New Control Measure

DICTATORSHIP CHARGE MADE BY THE PAPERS

All Dailies and Weeklies Oppose Aberhart Government Regulation Plan

Free Press Chief Issue, They Say

EDMONTON (CP)—Legislation before the Alberta Legislature respecting the press was termed an attempt to "impose a dictatorship over the press and deny to the people of Alberta their right to receive uncensored news of their government" in a statement issued today by a meeting of the Alberta division of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association and the six Alberta daily newspapers.

The statement was scheduled to be presented to the agricultural committee of the Legislature this afternoon during its consideration of the bill, entitled "An Act to Ensure Publication of Accurate News and Information."

The publishers' statement declares the bill is contrary to democratic principles and long-established practice in democratic countries. The bill is described as "an attempt to take away from the newspapers of Alberta the fundamental rights and privileges of a free press and to place them in such a position of servitude to the government that they will cease to be a free press and become no more than an instrument of Social Credit propaganda."

Under the bill, the publishers charge, newspapers could be compelled to publish statements which they may know or believe to be false and the public would be denied the unbiased information essential to an informed public opinion.

UNDER THE CODE

Although the bill declares protection will be given publishers under the Slander and Libel Act on any statement issued through the chairman of the Social Credit Board, the publishers' statement declares the newspapers remain subject to prosecution under the Criminal Code.

"Any person furnishing news or writing news stories or editorials that are not acceptable to the government can be deprived of his only means of employment and livelihood," the publishers declare.

Newspapers of Alberta "have invariably given adequate and accurate information on government policies and pronouncements," the publishers add, "and have given more space to the activities and policies of the Social Credit government than has been given to any other government by any other press."

SMALL DROP IN ASSESSMENTS

Net Reduction in Taxable Values Just $565,650 Below 1937

Despite an increase in the gross assessment in Victoria for 1938, owing to building development during the current year, the actual taxable assessment for next year stands $565,650 less than 1937, as a result of increased exemptions brought about to a large extent by further reversion of property to the city.

The total taxable assessment for next year is $48,149,952, including $18,505,367 on land and $29,644,585 on improvements. The net total for 1937 was $48,715,610, including $19,024,350 on land and $29,691,260 on improvements. Exemptions for 1937 totaled $19,938,890. For next year the total exemptions amount to $20,565,460. The latter figure shows increase of $626,570 over the current year. A gross reduction of only $55,433 was made for 1938 on land. On improvements an increase of $116,345 was shown. The upward trend in improvements was the first in seven years in Victoria, and was considered a

Spontaneous Outbursts When Ship With Presidential Party Pulled Away

While crowds cheered and sang, President and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt waved their farewells and said their goodbyes to Victoria yesterday afternoon as they stood on the deck of the destroyer Phelps, which took them across the Straits to Port Angeles.

The heads of the first family of the United States, who captured the hearts of all Victoria with their warmth and sincerity and their magnetic personalities, promised they would return to Victoria, whose residents welcomed them so genuinely, on behalf of all the people of Canada. Ten minutes after presidential party went aboard, the gangplank was hauled in and sailing orders were given. The Phelps pulled slowly away. The crowds on the dock surged forward and followed the grey destroyer to the end of the pier. The Roosevelts were still waving when the ship turned around and headed for Port Angeles.

As commander-in-chief of the United States Navy, of which he was Secretary for many years, the thirty-second President of the United States was piped aboard, as the crew stood at salute. All eyes were on him and his wife, who appeared delighted with the reception given them.

FLORAL FAREWELL

The President and Mrs. Roosevelt and Mrs. Boettiger returned to cabins aboard the Phelps which had been filled with magnificent flowers and plants from the City of Victoria.

While the party was at Government House, city officials carried armloads of flowers aboard and placed them in the cabins of the President, his wife and his daughter, as well as in the dining-room. Magnificent begonias were a special feature.

Victoria Boy Gets Major Bowes Job

Reg. Stofor Wins Chance to Yodel Way to Stage Success

Twelve years ago, Reginald P. Stofor, then a newsboy on The Times, discovered he could whistle a triple note.

Today, Reg. Stofor, who is now 25 years old, is on his way to Buffalo to join Major Bowes' International Unit which is playing an engagement at a theatre there.

The Victorian, who has lived practically all his life in this city, did not have to wait for the results of the voting when he appeared on Major Bowes' Amateur Hour last night. He received a personal call from the manager of the Buffalo theatre where the unit is appearing.

Mr. Stofor, who was featured on the radio programme as "Whispering Whippoorwill," first yodelled on a musical saw and then yodelled to his own accompaniment on a guitar, but strangely enough did not whistle his triple note, which is probably unique.

Victoria received a boost out of Mr. Stofor's appearance on the coast-to-coast radio hook-up as Major Bowes remarked when

HEALTH BOARD TO HOLD POST

Commission to Continue Work; Insurance Plan Out For Present

British Columbia's four-man health insurance commission will continue its studies on health insurance systems, although there is no prospect of immediate government action to put the plan into force Premier Pattullo said today.

The Premier confirmed the interpretation of his radio speech Wednesday as implying that the government did not propose any new health insurance legislation at the coming session.

This, however, will leave the present health insurance act, passed in 1936, on the statute books, although it is inoperative. The health commission headquarters on Gordon Street will be maintained, the Premier said, and a few men on the technical staff retained to carry on the job of studying health insurance. The commission at one time had a staff of 70, but this was reduced to about half a dozen when the original insurance scheme fell through last spring.

The Premier said today he had accepted President Roosevelt's invitation to see him when he is in the east during the next few weeks.

One of the last things the President said when he was embarking on the destroyer Phelps yesterday afternoon was: "Well, I'll see the P.M. soon."

The Premier leaves Victoria tonight and will take a plane out of Vancouver tomorrow for New York. He has an appointment in Ottawa Tuesday, and will probably visit the President on his return journey later in the month.

ALASKA ROAD IS DISCUSSED

President Roosevelt Says Tremendous Interest in Coast Project

President Roosevelt talked informally with Premier Pattullo yesterday about the proposed B.C.-Alaska Highway, but turned aside queries of newspaper correspondents when they asked if anything definite was in the air.

There was tremendous interest in the project, the President said. People were traveling more these days, and with better roads would travel still more.

When he was asked if the United States government was anxious to further the project, the President replied: "As soon as the two governments find it is time to do it."

The President had an informal chat with Canadian newspaper representatives as he entered a car at Government House to be driven back to the dock.

CHICHIBU IN TOWN TODAY

Japanese Prince and Wife Arrive in Victoria For Brief Visit

Prince Chichibu, brother of the Emperor of Japan, reached Victoria this afternoon by Ss. Princess Marguerite.

A large crowd of local Japanese residents bowed as he walked to his motor car. He was provided with a police escort and went to his hotel suite, where he will remain in seclusion until the departure of the Japanese liner Hikawa Maru from Victoria tomorrow night for Yokohama.

The Hikawa Maru usually sails direct from Vancouver to sea, but it was arranged yesterday to send her into Victoria to take aboard the Prince and his wife.

Much secrecy surrounded the visit of Prince and Princess Chichibu. The Empress Hotel this morning said they had no reservations for them. There was no official government welcome arranged for them.

WERE AT CORONATION

Returning from the Coronation in London, where they represented the Japanese Emperor and Empress, the members of Japan's Royal House reached Vancouver by train this morning and transferred immediately to the Princess Marguerite, where one of the large suites was placed at their disposal.

In Vancouver there was no demonstration or ceremony to mark their arrival, in strong contrast to the reception by banner-waving thousands of Vancouver's Japanese colony, who greeted them when they arrived there last April.

Close to 100 police and private detectives surrounded the Prince's private car as the train pulled into the station in Vancouver. A

TOKIO (CP-Havas)—The Foreign Office spokesman reiterated today that Japan would refuse any third power mediation in the Sino-Japanese conflict, and criticized foreign nations "for falling victims to lying Chinese propaganda."

Persistent rumors concerning differences of opinion among cabinet members meanwhile were confirmed by a remark of Count Yoriyasu Arima, Agriculture Minister and most important figure politically in the House of Peers.

"We had better cope courageously," he said, "with a difficult situation through stricter unity among ourselves than be moved by outside agitation."

His remark was interpreted as direct at various groups anxious to consolidate their political positions.

The declaration of the Foreign Office spokesman said: "Japan is not bent on destroying China, but on doing away with the greatest element of world perturbation—namely, the Communists."

AIMING AT BRITAIN

The newspaper Kokufun today urged Japan to disregard international law in its conflict with China and aim at the destruction of Great Britain's power in that country.

The article, signed by Yuji Satsuma, declared "Japan's final object in China is not achievable unless Great Britain's dominant influence in China is overthrown."

"Even Chinese diplomats will not be so foolish as to believe that the principles of international law are applicable to China," Satsuma added. "Therefore there is no occasion for an attempt at justification of the overthrow of British interests in China on legal grounds."

"Unlike the Japanese Foreign Office, the Japanese army and navy do not fear Great Britain."

Shanghai Troops Counter-attack

Japanese in Kiangwan Part of Long Line Forced Back

SHANGHAI (AP)—Chinese defenders of Shanghai reported they were holding their own along the line Friday and, in some sectors, sharply counterattacking.

In the vicinity of Kiangwan, Chinese reported, their counter-attack resulted in a virtual rout of Japanese troops. Japanese admitted Kiangwan civic centre building had been "evacuated," but they contended their lines in the rear were unchanged.

The Chinese told of surrounding and "annihilating" 500 Japanese soldiers in that sector.

Near the boundary of the International Settlement opposing troops fought hand to hand and with machine guns for a block of foreign houses on Range Road and the Pantheon Theatre.

Throughout the night Japanese artillery shelled the Chapel sector and the North Station.

DRIVE HALTED
Japanese admitted their "big push" had been halted along almost the whole length of the 25-mile front stretching northwest from the North Station.

A Japanese army spokesman explained the slow advance in the Lotien sector was due to the strong Chinese defence positions.

In North China, however, the spokesman declared, Japanese forces had occupied Shohien, strategic point on the Inner Great Wall in Shansi Province, and were pushing to the south against Taiyuanfu, the capital of the province.

BOMBING PROTESTED
Meanwhile, sharp condemnation of Japanese bombing of Hankow and the Hankow-Canton railway September 25 came from Rear-Admiral Harry Yarnell, commander of the United States Asiatic fleet.

"The statement by a Japanese naval spokesman that Japanese authorities had been informed by U.S. Ambassador N. T. Johnson that evacuation of foreigners from Hankow and thereabouts would be completed by noon, September 26, was entirely in error, as no such information had been given out by the ambassador," Admiral Yarnell said.

TOKYO (AP)—The navy ministry admitted today that Japanese warships had attacked Chinese junks in south China waters.

(A number of junks have been reported sunk and several hundred Chinese drowned under shelling by Japanese warcraft).

The attacks, the ministry's statement declared, were necessary in self-defence.

"It must be understood there are many kinds of junks, some of larger types which are armed with cannon, also with rifles, pistols and machine guns," the statement read.

VICTORIA BOY GETS
MAJOR BOWES JOB

he interviewed the artist prior to his performance, that he knew the city and it was a lovely place.

In recognition of this, the local Chamber of Commerce wired Major Bowes last night as follows:

"Citizens of Victoria, and particularly the publicity bureau, appreciate the opportunity of listening in and hearing Reg. Stofor of this city broadcast to night and wish him every success."

In his usual genial manner Major Bowes interviewed Mr. Stofor.

"I was born in England," the Victorian said, "but when I was eight months old I took it into my head to come to Victoria."

"Why all the delay?" asked the major.

Mr. Stofor told the radio audience how he still had his baby teeth which he believed was the reason he could whistle a triple note. Then he played "Little Old Lady" on his saw which is just an ordinary carpenter's saw from which the artist draws music with a violin bow, and vociferous applause was accorded him for his clever number.

Mr. Stofor is the son of Reg Stofor, a janitor of The Times newspaper. He was educated at Cedar Hill public school and Victoria High School.

He made his debut as an entertainer with a local troupe known as the "Troubadors" which played here a few years ago. Mr. Stofor has a double voice and can sing baritone and soprano. With the Troubadors he took the part of a girl in the number "The Girl in the Little Green Hat."

Mr. Stofor was also interested in dramatics and took roles in many local plays. He was a member of the Electra Dramatic Society, the Progressive Arts and the Victoria Operatic Society.

He also took a prominent part in sports here and was a member of the Saanich Thistles senior soccer team.

For months Reg Stofor and his brother, Eric, who is also an entertainer, have been looking forward to appearing on Major Bowes' programme. Together they saved up enough money and took the bus to New York.

They left here on September 19, arriving in the metropolis on September 24. They were auditioned last Monday. Eric Stofor did not appear on the programme last night and his father believes he will probably appear on a subsequent programme.

Roosevelt Sees Forest Sights

U.S. President Today Making Tour of Olympic Peninsula

FORKS, Wash. (AP)—Stopping five minutes at the Calawa Lumber camp, two miles east of Forks, President Roosevelt watched a logger cut the top from a 175-foot Douglas fir tree today.

SEE FIRE FIGHTERS
Snyder Ranger Station, Olympic Peninsula, Wash. (AP)—President Roosevelt and his party, on a tour of the Olympic Peninsula, stopped here this forenoon for a 12-minute demonstration by the United States forest service of methods of fighting a major forest fire.

LAKE CRESCENT, Wash. (AP)—President Roosevelt and his party awoke after a night of torrential rainfall and found the sun breaking through and the storm blowing out. They set out to complete their motor trip around the Olympic Peninsula, northwestern tip of Washington State.

A storm of gale force had blown through the night along the coast to the westward, which the highway skirts, and rain fell in torrents.

The streets of Forks, another small logging community, were already lining this morning with citizens and school children who had come many miles through the sparsely-settled country to see the President.

DESTROYER IN PORT
The destroyer Phelps which took the President from Seattle to Victoria, B.C., during his several hours' visit in the Canadian city yesterday and then to Port Angeles, Wash., was to remain at Port Angeles until 11 a.m.

The peninsula trip was scheduled to take the President to Lake Quinalt, 43 miles north of Hoquiam, Wash.

The President yesterday pledged his help to 3,000 Port Angeles, Wash., school children in obtaining a national park in the peninsula area.

The proposed park would include the present Olympic National Monument and take in several thousand additional acres, largely covered with natural forest.

W. Labadie Found Guilty at Sarnia, Ont., of Killing Boy of Seven

SARNIA, Ont. (CP)—William Labadie, 17-year-old farmhand, was sentenced by Mr. Justice Keiller Mackay today to the hanging December 13 for the murder last March 12 of John Luckins, seven-year-old son of his employer.

The death penalty was imposed after an assize court jury Thursday night found the youth guilty of murdering the Luckins boy, but accompanied its verdict with a strong recommendation for mercy.

The jury took seven hours to reach a decision.

The Luckins boy, son of Labadie's employer, Thomas Charles Luckins, was found in a horse stall by an older brother March 12. His head was battered with a hammer, and his hands were tied behind his back. He died the day after, the same day Labadie was arrested by police at his grandfather's home.

CROWDS CHEERED AND SANG AS ROOSEVELTS LAUGHED AND WAVED

Half an hour before the American destroyers left, the Canadian destroyers Skeena and Fraser backed away from Ogden Point and waited for the Phelps and the Porter outside the breakwater. They convoyed the visiting ships as far as the international boundary, out in the Straits of Juan de Fuca.

STREETS BLOCKED
The breakwater was black with people as the destroyers pulled away. Crowds were standing on the roof of the cold storage plant. They lined the Dallas Road waterfront. For nearly an hour cars were moving along the roadway. Street cars were packed as people made their way back to town and in the business section there were other traffic jams.

STAYED LONGER
President Roosevelt's visit to Victoria was scheduled to last two and one-half hours. It actually lasted 90 minutes longer, as record crowds greeted the visiting executive at all points in the city and slowed up proceedings.

The President expressed his appreciation in a short interview with the press as he was leaving Government House after luncheon.

"Ever since I have been in the White House I have continued a practice started in 1884 of coming to Canada every year, a pretty good record, I think."

"I am especially happy to be in British Columbia today. I have never been here before, but now I know I'm coming back."

"I am delighted with the wonderful hospitality shown us by Lieutenant-Governor Hamber and by the people who came to see us on the streets."

The President caught the enthusiasm of the crowds at all points. His contagious smile and cheerfulness prompted cheers all along the line, and he was given an uproarious send-off as the destroyer Phelps pulled away from Ogden Point docks at 4:20.

There were cheers and cheers, repeated three over from people swarming the pier and even on top of the wharf sheds.

PREMIER AS CHEER LEADER
Premier Pattullo became a spontaneous cheer leader, and the crew responded wholeheartedly.

Children and grownups lined the entrance to the dock as the President, accompanied by Lieutenant-Governor Hamber, arrived from their tour of Marine Drive. Waving flags and bunting of all descriptions, with the Union Jack and Stars and Stripes gaily mixed, they set up a deafening din.

As he stepped out of the car the President said is goodbyes to the Lieutenant-Governor, Premier Pattullo, Mayor McGavin and Mayor Miller, and others of the official party. There was handshaking all around.

"I am really sorry to go," the President told them. "It would have been grand to make a longer stay. It has been perfectly grand here. I hope to come again."

Turning to Premier Pattullo, he added, "I hope to see you again soon."

Premier Pattullo will fly east to Ottawa on Sunday, and may visit Washington on his way.

On boarding the destroyer, the President, with Mrs. Roosevelt, James Roosevelt and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. John Boettiger, "Sis-tie" and "Buzzie" Dall stood amidships and posed for press photographers.

WARNED PHOTOGRAPHERS
Among the cameramen were several visitors who came on the destroyer Porter, and finally Mrs. Roosevelt warned them that they had better finish and catch their boat to avoid being left.

Four little girls pushed through the crowd, with the assistance of an obliging police sergeant, and asked the President for his autograph.

The President smiled a wide-wide smile, and laughed: "I can't sign them standing up."

"If we come to see you at the White House will you?" asked one of the girls.

"I'd love to," he said. As the destroyer slowly backed away from the wharf, U.S. gobs lined the rail and stood at the salute.

The President waved repeatedly and as Premier Pattullo waved a final goodbye Mrs. Roosevelt said: "Don't forget, we'll see you soon."

Again the Premier called for cheers, and shouts rang out, both for the President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

Then the crowd started up "He's a Jolly Good Fellow," and to the strains of this the ship went astern into the mist as the guns from Work Point boomed out the departing salute. The U.S.S. Porter, carrying the press party, followed.

ITALY BALKS ON PLAN FOR SPAIN

tion is imperative. British circles frankly express the view that a wider European settlement can not be expected so long as Spain is little better than a battle-ground for so-called volunteers.

The note does not suggest Italy alone should withdraw her volunteers. It aims at the withdrawal of all non-Spanish now fighting in Spain. It is a starting point. Nobody questions the presence of large bodies of Italian volunteers. Premier Mussolini himself has proclaimed it.

If Italy declines or sends more volunteers, then France and Great Britain will reconsider the whole question of non-intervention. France may be expected to open her Catalan frontier, which means that shipment of arms to the Spanish government no longer would be prohibited.

Rumors that Italy has another 80,000 volunteers ready to move towards Spain were not confirmed in British official advices.

POWER TO REGIMENT

Coupling the Newspaper Bill and the bill to amend and consolidate the Licensing of Trades and Business Act, the publishers declare:

"These two pieces of legislation considered together give the government the power to regiment and penalize those individuals whose names have been required and from whom, at the sole discretion of the Minister of Trade and Industry, their license to work may be withdrawn."

Later in the statement the publishers declare:

"The drastic nature of the penalties provided by the act make it abundantly clear that the real intention of the legislation is to control and at the instance of the government to destroy the free press of this province."

BRIEF IS BARRED

EDMONTON (CP)—The agriculture committee of the Alberta Legislature today defeated a motion to receive a brief from the Alberta division of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association and the Alberta daily newspapers respecting a bill to insure the publication of accurate news and information.

EDMONTON (CP)—Identification of writers and news sources on request and enforcement of publication of government statements are provided in an Alberta government bill to "ensure publication of accurate news and information" in newspapers.

Introduced in the Legislature Thursday by Provincial Treasurer Low, the bill was given first and second reading and was scheduled for consideration this afternoon by the Legislature's agriculture committee.

The Alberta Social Credit Board chairman (at present Glen L. MacLachlan, member of the Legislature for Coronation), would have power to recommend to Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council imposition of penalties provided in the bill—fines, suspension of publication or banning of items from specified sources.

Every proprietor, editor, publisher or manager of any newspaper, if called on by the board chairman in writing, must disclose every source of information contained in any statement in the newspaper, the bill declares. The names, addresses and occupations of all persons by whom such information was furnished to the newspaper may be demanded, as well as the identity of any writer of any editorial, article or news item.

OFFICIAL STATEMENTS

Newspapers could be required by the board chairman to publish any statement furnished by him respecting objects of government policies, means employed and difficulties encountered in achieving such objects.

At the foot of statements would be the words: "The foregoing statement is published by the direction of the chairman of the Social Credit Board."

All such statements would be printed in type used ordinarily by the newspaper, and would not exceed one page in size in the case of a daily paper nor one-tenth of the total issue of any other newspaper.

A penalty of $500 is provided for contravention of the act or default, and a penalty of $1,000 is provided for contravention of any order-in-council respecting suspension of publication or banning of a specified news source.

The bill, to become effective with the Lieutenant-Governor's assent, provides statements published in compliance with the act would be privileged and not subject to the Libel and Slander Act.

Actually speaking the government needs no further legislation to proceed with a plan of health insurance. The legislation passed last year was wide enough to allow it to proceed with varying sorts of plans, but the Premier's statement was taken as indicating that nothing is planned for another year at least.

BIG NEW BRITISH HEALTH CAMPAIGN

LONDON — Prime Minister Chamberlain Thursday night inaugurated a nation-wide campaign to encourage wider use of existing health services and to emphasize the need for greater physical fitness. He spoke at a reception at the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine.

The campaign, organized by the Ministry of Health and the

Oak Bay Hears Naval Proposal

Resident Wants Destroyers, Planes and Submarines On Coast

The Oak Bay Council yesterday afternoon decided that problems of naval defence in the event of a possible war with Japan were outside its jurisdiction.

The debate arose out of a letter headed "Naval Defence of the British Columbia Coast" and signed "T. L. Thorpe-Douglas, Captain, Royal Navy (ret.)."

The letter read in part: "The present state of affairs in the Far East, accompanied as it is by the shooting of the British Ambassador and the sinking of a Chinese fishing fleet, some vessels of which may be of British registry, makes the possibility of war between Japan and the British Empire a not too remote possibility.

"It does not appear to be realized here that a couple of hostile cruisers in the Gulf of Georgia could quickly bring Vancouver Island to a condition nearing starvation."

After stressing that neither the British nor the United States fleets were to be expected to protect the British Columbia coast, the letter went on to propose that city and municipal councils should press the provincial government to seek from the federal government that four destroyers, a fleet of at least 100 airplanes and six submarines be stationed on the Pacific Coast.

The letter concluded with a grim warning: "If those in authority take no action, at any rate I have the consolation of knowing that it is they and not I that will be hanged if trouble comes this way. . . . I present to Oak Bay the honor of being the first municipality to take action."

The letter was received and filed.

OAK BAY FIRE DECISION SOON

Council Will Meet Tuesday Night to Settle Department Question

The Oak Bay Council will finally decide on Tuesday night whether the municipality is to have its own fire department, and if so what sort it is to be.

A special meeting was called for that date if the regular session yesterday afternoon, after a number of items in the matter of fire protection had been referred to a committee of the whole council. Tuesday night's session will take the form of a committee meeting, followed by a short open meeting.

By Tuesday the council expects to have a reply from the City Council to its letter of protest against the 50 per cent increase in fire protection rates, which has led Oak Bay to consider installing its own department. The city referred the letter to its fire wardens. A definite answer is expected by Oak Bay following the City Council meeting on Monday evening.

BY-LAW INTRODUCED

Meanwhile the Oak Bay Council yesterday gave first reading to a by-law authorizing a loan of $36,000 for the erection of a fire hall and the purchase of equipment. In the event the by-law is finally passed on Tuesday night, it should be put to a vote of the ratepayers within two weeks from that time.

The council conferred on Wednesday with representatives of the fire underwriters, and several alternative protection systems were discussed.

HALL SITE CHOSEN

A site for the proposed fire hall has been tentatively approved at the southeast side of the point where Monterey Avenue turns into St. Anne Street. The lot in question is owned by the municipality, and so is the lot across the street, which may be used for the fire chief's quarters.

Councillors at yesterday's meeting foresaw a considerable reduction in fire insurance rates in the event the municipality installs its own department.

The increase in cost of fire protection from the city which led to the separation plan was from $1,000 to $1,500 monthly.

Board of Education, will be divided into five periods.

In October there will be a general introduction of the campaign. November and December will be devoted to maternity and child welfare services, January to the school, medical and dental services and the milk-in-schools scheme and February to the tuberculosis and other services for adolescents and adults.

In March, through co-operation with the National Fitness Council, attention will be drawn to facilities for physical training and recreation.

SIDE GLANCES By George Clark

"Your brother would make an interesting speaker at our club if we could get him to leave out some of those cuss words."

Oak Bay Traffic Not Dangerous

There is no indication that driving is becoming any more dangerous in Oak Bay than in past years, Chief of Police John Syme informed the municipal council yesterday afternoon in reply to a communication from Capt. T. L. Thorpe-Douglas complaining of excessive speeds on the part of motorists, which had been referred to the police department at a previous meeting of the council.

For the first nine months of this year there had been seven accidents in Oak Bay, all of a minor nature, the chief reported, and two children had suffered very slight injuries.

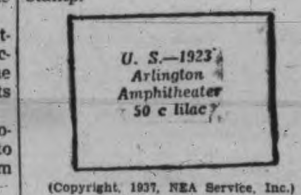

Across the Potomac from Washington in the hallowed ground of Arlington National Cemetery rest 40,000 American patriots. White "City of the Departed," Arlington is one of the most remarkable monuments to national courage and love of country ever conceived.

The federal government seized the Arlington property in 1864, for non-payment of taxes ($82.07) by the owner, Mrs. Robert E. Lee. Payment of $26,000 to Mrs. Lee was authorized. After her death in 1870, however, these proceedings were contested by her son, who won his case in the Supreme Court. Thereupon he sold the property to the United States for $150,000.

Covering 408 acres, Arlington is the last bivouac for more than 40,000 soldier dead and national heroes. In one state tomb the bones of 2,111 unknown victims of the Battle of Bull Run repose. In Arlington, too, rests the Unknown Soldier of the World War.

Latest addition to Arlington is the Memorial amphitheatre, built of white marble and overlooking the peaceful Potomac. It provides seating capacity for thousands during memorial services. The amphitheatre is shown on a 1923 stamp.

JOBS ON FARMS FOR MANY MEN

Last Winter's Federal-Provincial Plan to Operate Again to Aid Needy Men

OTTAWA (CP)—To meet the problem of single, homeless and unemployed men, the farm improvement and employment plan will be put into operation again this winter in the four western provinces. Labor Minister Rogers announced the decision Thursday.

The plan involves a bonusing arrangement by which the Dominion and provinces promote absorption of unemployed on farms.

The minister's announcement followed a survey of conditions in western Canada by Humphrey Mitchell, who directed the plan last year.

Last year the Dominion and provinces shared expense of contributing $7.50 a month to the wages of each unemployed man who accepted farm work and remained until spring. In addition $5 a month was given every farmer who hired a man. Financial arrangements for the coming months have not been completed.

U.S. Congress Session Debated

Possibility of Special Meeting in November Discussed As Roosevelt Tours

WASHINGTON (AP)—Washington opinion was divided today over the possibility of a special session of the United States Congress in November, but some political observers suggested the chances for it had been increased by recent election results.

Those in close touch with the situation were inclined to accept the opinion expressed Thursday by Senator W. E. Borah, Republican, Idaho, who recently conferred with the President, that Mr. Roosevelt has not made up his mind.

Some expressed the belief, however, the Democratic victory in Tuesday's congressional election in Massachusetts and the results of recent mayoral primaries in New York City would encourage the President to call Congress into session.

They conceded, nevertheless, the possibility of explosive debate over the foreign situation and the Supreme Court appointment of Hugo L. Black might deter the President.

"There was speculation Mr. Roosevelt would make no announcement at least until his return next week to the east from his tour to Seattle and Victoria, B.C.

Messages Of Goodwill Sent

Prime Minister King and President Roosevelt Exchange Greetings

Prime Minister Mackenzie King and President Roosevelt exchanged messages of goodwill yesterday on the occasion of the visit of the United States President to Victoria.

Mr. King sent the following telegram to the President: "My colleagues in the government and I are delighted that you are today paying a visit to the historic city of Victoria. We join in extending to Mrs. Roosevelt and yourself, and to the members of your party, a most cordial welcome to the Dominion. The pleasure which your visit affords to the people of Victoria is shared by Canada as a whole. I trust the day may be a happy one for you. It will, I know, serve to emphasize the many close and friendly ties between our two countries. I send to you my kindest personal regards and good wishes."

Mr. Roosevelt replied: "Many thanks your message. We had a most delightful visit and appreciate the very generous welcome given us. It was good again to visit my good friends in Canada. Warm regards and best wishes to you. I hope to see you before long."

History

THE STACCATO BARK OF THE SALUTE fired by the visiting destroyers at Ogden Point yesterday marked the opening of one of the swiftest visits of a foreign potentate to a friendly capital ever undertaken and the answering roar of the guns from Work Point assured the world that the capital city of Victoria welcomed him and the two younger generations of his family who accompanied him.

The scene at the docks as the President landed was quiet and dignified—as befits the welcome of the great. Locked securely in the minds alone of those who were privileged to attend the intimate luncheon at Government House must be the conversations of the President, the Premier and the Lieutenant-Governor. There were no reporters present. But probably the only conversations evolved were that they were all glad to see each other, that Victoria was a beautiful city and that they must come again.

It was what has come to be called a "Goodwill" visit and, stepping down from the frigid heights inhabited by Presidents and Premiers, we may look in at the other luncheon given at the Empress Hotel for the newspapermen who accompany the President wherever he goes, the Washington correspondents of the great papers of the United States. That was a really international get-together.

Under the chairmanship of Hon. George Weir, Minister of Education, supported by Hon. Gordon Wismer, Hon. K. C. Macdonald and other ministers, the gathering was sprinkled with prominent Victoria business men and with visiting British Columbia journalists and was marked by a wonderful lack of formal speeches—Mr. Post of The New York Times alone speaking for the presidential party and very briefly.

Victoria has reason to be proud of the dignified manner in which she received a visiting ruler of such world-wide importance and of the fact that not even the rain that threatened to dampen the show kept the great-hearted citizenry from turning out in thousands to greet Mr. Roosevelt. That their courage was rewarded by a cessation of moisture was merely poetic justice.

Victoria will not soon forget or lightly remember the visit of Mr. Roosevelt, a visit that served to demonstrate that the great people who live in the southern half of this North American Continent of ours and which we occupy with so much mutual happiness and in increasing friendship and understanding are a people who abound in goodwill and who will always strive for the peaceful and sane solution of any problems that may arise.

Setting Back The Clock

THE GOVERNMENT OF THE PROVINCE of Alberta is making a curious effort to set back the clock of progress. We, in our western freedom and in the full enjoyment of an advancing democratic form of government, have striven for centuries to achieve the rights of free speech and the freedom of the press.

There now arises from the miasmatic haze that is called politics in Alberta, an inspired male school-marm who conducts his government from the pulpit of a Prophetic Bible Institute and who has caused to be introduced in the Legislature a bill to "enforce publication of accurate news and information" in the newspapers and provides such penalties as fines, suspension of publication and the banning of items from "specified sources."

Under the act newspapers could be required by the chairman of the board to be set up to publish any statement furnished by him respecting the objects of government policies, the means employed and the difficulties encountered in achieving such objects. At the foot of all such statements are to be the words: "The foregoing statement is published by the direction of the chairman of the Social Credit Board."

It sounds something like the liquor advertisements in this province that are always followed by the declaration that "This advertisement is not displayed by the government of British Columbia or by the Liquor Control Board." And that suggests that the whole alleged object of the Alberta act could be covered by paid advertisement.

The publication of such items, however, is not the objective of this reactionary act. Its true object is to control the press for purposes of the government. It is an objective that the newspaper press of a free and democratic country will not accept. The freedom of the press is a sacred thing, it must and will be respected and maintained at whatever cost. Men have gone to prison and torture before in the cause of freedom and now that this freedom has been established and enjoyed for many years men will be found who will suffer again to keep the lamp of freedom burning in spite of anything a funny little man in Alberta can do to blow it out.

There shall be no political control of the press in this country.

Bouquets

SAID PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT: "The arrangements are perfect."

Credit for these arrangements and their smooth working during the visit to Victoria yesterday of the chief executive of the United States must be shared by the provincial and municipal officials, by the representatives of various local organizations who co-operated and by the smart and colorful royal guard from the Canadian navy and army.

Than Lieutenant-Governor Hamber and Mrs. Hamber, the Dominion as well as the province could not have had more accomplished and satisfying hosts on an occasion of such international significance.

Special praise should be extended to the police of all branches for the diplomatic handling of the crowds at the docks and along the route of the President's drive through the city. The posting of uniformed men at all the corners along the route was evidence of the thoroughness with which the preparations had been made. A commendable spirit was shown in the fine co-operation between the members of the Greater Victoria police forces and those of the provincial force.

Incidentally, it should be mentioned the widely experienced secret service men who travel with the President voiced their keen appreciation of the excellence of the police arrangements here during the visit.

National Defence

THE CONDITION OF WORLD UNREST now existing has combined with the approach of the elections in Australia to make the country—through each conflicting party—defence-conscious. In this juncture there has arrived a sharply marked line of divergence in thoughts of what is the best form of defence for the great southern continent.

The party of the existing government under Joseph A. Lyons, the United Australia party, is determined on a tremendously increased navy while the Labor Party under John Cronin is all for a five-fold enlargement of the air force. It seems to be rather a question for experts in each branch but, to the lay mind, it might occur that if Australia is to carry out her determination of independent armament and of a self-sufficient defence scheme it might be well to increase both arms sufficiently to make each formidable but not so far as to leave one vulnerable in the event of the stronger being too severely crippled.

Australia's best defence, apparently, lies in her distant position. Ships and airplanes reaching its coasts must make an instant success in attack in order to refuel and get away. On the other hand, whatever the defences of Australia may be, there is still a situation of grave danger to the vital spots of the country in the event of serious and major attack. A heavy armada of airplane carriers—each carrying about 100 bombers—could loose a tremendous swarm of planes at least half of which must necessarily get through and create terrible havoc if not actually seizing the country through the paralysis of its ports.

The most practical result of this new demand for adequate and self-sufficient defence in Australia is that there will be implemented a system of industrial development in such industries as may ordinarily produce for peace but which can at any moment turn their plants and facilities to the production of munitions.

That is national progress and on a scale that in itself includes a great step toward adequate defence.

Notes

Another thing that reveals a man's age is the percentage of weather he considers awful.

Science lags behind romance. Think what Captain Kidd could have done with a modern submarine.

The guns were booming when the Admiral liner President Grant left the Orient. She arrived here yesterday morning and docked to find the guns again booming around her. But while the guns on the other side of the Pacific were barking in the savagery of unbridled destruction, those on this side were booming out in acclaim of goodwill and international co-operation in the cause of peace and civilization.

LET THE CITIES SPEAK

From Ottawa Journal

The Rowell Royal Commission which is to inquire into the relations of the Dominion and the provinces decided at its organization meeting that submissions of the municipalities are to be received through the provincial governments—unless a provincial government should ask that its municipalities be heard separately.

It is not possible to assume that the interests of province and municipality invariably are indistinguishable, or that the province will present the case for the cities fully and fairly. The cities will want to lay emphasis on the repeated declarations of public men that relief is a national problem, and they will ask how that statement can be reconciled with the fact that municipalities have had to carry so large a part of the relief burden—that while the Ontario government, for example, boasts of a surplus and of taxes reduced, the larger cities of Ontario have the highest tax rates in their history; have no hope whatever of getting them down unless they are relieved of relief costs they never should have had to undertake.

The cities should be permitted—in co-operation if separate presentations would occupy too much time—to state their own case before the Rowell Commission. Their condition is a highly important part of the national economic picture, and before a body whose recommendations may vitally affect the course of this country's history they should have their day in court.

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

SOFT PEOPLE

NOW THAT the depression—a temporary phenomenon and important only as a symptom—has passed and everybody is enjoying unexampled prosperity and a harder time to make ends meet with the increased cost of living, people are beginning to think about the fundamentals of our civilization. In fact, at least half of everything written nowadays, apart from fiction, seeks to probe some defect in our modern life. What's wrong with everything is the universal cry. If this age goes under, it won't be because nobody warned it. If it dies, it won't be for lack of doctors' diagnosis and free clinics.

Why, you can't pick up one of those digest publications without finding it crammed with diagnosis of every description, but all diagnosticians disagree on all the symptoms. I have before me the views of three social doctors who find that the ills of the world are not economic at all, but spiritual, a notion which no one would have dared to broach during the depression.

Dr. Van der Leeuw, speaking to the New Educational Fellowship Conference in South Africa, says the trouble with us is that materially we are the richest generation in all history, but spiritually we are paupers. He says that all the bustle and excitement of the Machine Age isn't richness, isn't life, but rather is designed, by giving the human being artificial stimulation, to hide the complete aridity and poverty of his soul.

Aldous Huxley, one of England's brilliant young men, has been in America probing along, and he has found some disagreeable material to work on. This is always agreeable to a prober like Mr. Huxley. The pulp magazines, which feed the peasantry of America on murder, torture and lust, says Mr. Huxley, are a symptom of a definite mental decline, of a progress back from civilization to the jungle.

Professor J. B. Nash, another eminent authority, sees a grave symptom in America's present attitude toward sport. This, says he, is supposed to be an athletic generation, but actually it is getting less athletic in proportion to the popularity of athletics, for most people now are spectators. For example, the sale of golf balls has dropped by half in the last few years. America is crazy about hockey, but the sale of skates is going down. We are getting back to the Roman system under which a few fellows fought each other in an arena and the multitude sat around watching, but taking no chances.

So it boils down to this, that we are getting soft in mind and body, and that is far more important than any question of economics or finance. Our livelihood depends on a few fellows who understand the machine, our recreation on a few fellows who play football or act in the movies or sing on the radio. For the average man less and less intelligence is required, less and less participation in work or play. Pretty soon there will be no need for him to exist at all, except as a consumer. Production, both material, athletic and artistic, will get along very well without him.

This, when you come to think of it, is the first time in history that such a thing has happened, for even in Rome, with its loose life, men had to work. Soon the machines will do it all and then, unless man has learned how to do something else of a useless artistic or athletic nature, there will be no excuse for him living at all. Even now most of us could be dispensed with very conveniently, except that we are needed to consume the goods produced by a few useful men and their machines. Soon we shall be like animals in a zoo, like tired hippopotami and walrus, almost too lazy to pick up the food thrown to us by our keepers.

So what do the social doctors prescribe to save us? More education to make us individuals and thinkers, to break the dead grip of machine uniformity. This is the most amusing proposal of all. We are to be taught revolt against the machine in an educational machine. We are to be machined to save us from machinery, uniformed to break our uniformity.

Alas, it won't work. If you are going to have machinery you are going to have a mechanical people. If you don't, you will have chaos; for if everyone were to become an individualist and a thinker tomorrow, if everybody were to wake up a free man with a single idea in his head, no matter how small, if everybody were to come to town tomorrow actually capable of thinking for himself, there would be such an upheaval as the world has never known. There would be bloodshed and destruction on all sides, and serious architectural destruction on Pandora Avenue. There would be an end of civilization everywhere, because our brittle system depends on everyone doing the same thing over and over and not thinking about it or making any trouble. You can have individuals among a rustic pastoral people, where a man can walk over the hills if he doesn't like the folks on this side. But you can't have it in a machine civilization where the whole thing goes smash if people start walking out of the factories.

So it is likely the social doctors will fail to start people thinking and become individuals again. People have discovered that it is so much easier to let someone else do the thinking, to let someone else play football or sing on the movies. They will go on letting someone else do it until the end, until after a while they will wake up one morning and find that everyone has forgotten how to do it. Then it will be necessary to start all over again.

Sweet singer with your gift of song,
We welcome you today;
In cadence sweet, your voice shall ring,
Adown song's golden way.

So rare a voice—a gift divine,
Given in sacred trust;
And golden-throated as a bird,
Singing—because it must.

So welcome singer, to you and yours,
For song and music gay;
Long may your thrilling notes flow on—
Adown song's golden way.

Nazis' Threat to World Today

From Richmond Times Dispatch

LADY ASTOR is right in believing that the anti-Nazi propaganda in this country is much more intense than the anti-Italian propaganda, or the anti-Soviet propaganda, or the anti-Franco propaganda. The question is whether there is anything wrong with this situation. She thinks it may provoke a reaction here, and prove a boomerang to those responsible.

"I'm convinced that unless France, England and Germany get together, there will be serious trouble," she said as she sailed for Europe. "That's why this appalling anti-German propaganda is dangerous."

One factor which is partly responsible for the concentration of propaganda against the Nazis is that the Nazis are easily the greatest single danger in the world today. It must be said, in all fairness, that they have brought Germany back virtually from the grave, restored the morale of the German people, broken the shackles of the Versailles treaty, greatly reduced unemployment, and made the Reich strong again. But in some of those very facts lies the chief menace of Nazi Germany. That country is so terribly strong, and it is so constantly growing stronger and more bellicose, that its resurrection is far from an unmixing blessing.

One may be sure that more than mere chimerical British fears are behind the idea, held so firmly in Downing Street, that Nazi Germany is the supreme menace to world peace, an idea which is largely responsible for the vast British programme of rearmament. And it is no accident that informed American diplomats hold the same view.

That alone would account for much of the difference in the amount of American propaganda against the Nazis, as compared with that against Italy or Russia. We, in this country, are a peace-loving people. We naturally do not like a government which gives every indication of preparation for war on a colossal scale. Mussolini would be just as great a menace to peace as Hitler, if Italy were as mighty as Germany.

RUSSIA, the supposed haven of the working class, is letting its admirers down sadly, but even so, it isn't in the category of Germany as a world threat. Neither Russia nor Italy is even comparable to the Reich, in so far as war-like intentions are concerned. At the same time, neither has adopted the fantastic racial dogmas which form such a substantial part of the Nazi ideology, and for that reason also, they are less objectionable.

We say that Russia is less of a world threat than Germany at this time, partly because the seeds of Fascism. Here in America, the country Lady Astor was discussing, the danger of Fascism is incomparably greater than that of Communism. We dislike both theories of government intensely. The blood baths, massacres and terror which both indulge in are equally repulsive to any one who believes in American institutions. But as between them, Fascism seems the greater menace at the moment. Hence the justification for a more intense propaganda in the United States against Germany, easily the foremost exemplar of Fascism in the world.

We agree with Lady Astor that it would be a mistake for any group in this country to indulge in excessive and unfair attacks on Nazi Germany, or any other country or government. Some of the attacks on the Nazis have been unfair, we are frank to say. We feel, however, that there is plenty of material lying around which any lover of freedom and democracy can legitimately use against the Nazis. Their own statements are enough to damn them, aside from anything else.

Letters To The Editor

"SEX CRIMINALS"

To the Editor:—In your editorial, under the above heading, you seek to find the cause for such an inhuman act as that committed on Mrs. Smith, but overlook the possibility of the use of narcotics.

Dope or narcotics that influence the sex passions may break down self-control. Such a narcotic as codeine, may I say, seems to possess the power to greatly increase the sex passion. Since codeine is inhaled it naturally is harder to control by the individual and one is liable to go through the experience of its effects right against their own desire and even after protesting against its use.

The act of placing dope under the heading of narcotics does not, unfortunately, prevent its use, the greatest task for the authorities being still left, that is, to control its uses among the people.

OXFORD GROUP AS NEWS

To the Editor:—In your issue of September 18 you carried a feature article by Nellie McClung on the Oxford Group.

It is interesting to us to see that the news value of the Oxford Group has reached so far west, as already in England and the United States many national newspapers and magazines have had feature articles.

Recently three students at the U.B.C. returned from England, and had interviews with some of the most important men both there and also in Canada on their way home. Such men as Sir Edward Beatty, Mr. MacKenzie King, and Mr. Bennett, and perhaps a story around their many interesting experiences would be worth your consideration, and what these men had to say of the youth enlistment in the Oxford Group in Canada.

We appreciate your publishing such positive news, as there appears to be a great preponderance of negative stuff in most publications of today. We feel that we have, and we know that we have, the only answer to all the problems, individual and national and international.

THOSE NOISY NEWLYWEDS

To the Editor:—I hope for everyone's sake that H.H.T. of Fairfield has not caused a deluge of letters to our aldermen and police commissioners complaining of the noisy weddings as these gentlemen would probably suffer serious ill effects wrestling with the grave problem. I have little fear of this, however, as cranks such as H.H.T. seldom get public support in their demands.

What would he have our police do? Jail newlyweds for being gay and happy? I think that H.H.T. has forgotten when he attended a wedding (it could not have been his own).

If he is annoyed by the noise caused by traffic jams let me point out that the noise is often necessary to wake up the policeman on the beat so that the traffic may be sorted out.

WORLD DAY FOR ANIMALS

To the Editor:—October 4 is dedicated the world over to the memory of the gentle Saint Francis of Assisi, friend of animals. The occasion is known as "World Day for Animals." Those who organized this movement nine years ago, in England, made no suggestion that the needs of animals could be neglected for 364 days in the year and remembered on one—rather is the occasion used to emphasize the fact that they deserve justice at our hands. This is something man is too liable to forget, hence the annual observance.

The training of the head without a corresponding training of the heart tends to encourage the power of evil, but the greater the individual, the wider are his sympathies. The motto of the World League is "Think, Speak, Act." Thoughts direct speech, but words are empty unless they promote us to action. The gradation of the motto will be used according to the breadth of our vision.

In bygone centuries St. Francis was an outstanding figure in charity towards the animal world; every human being is possessed of the potential Christ spirit. Its influence may be expanded in each heart, or deliberately stifled. The more sincere we are, the more earnestly we shall promote the teaching of St. Francis, without fear, without distinction, knowing that cruelty in any form is a crime which we have it in our power to prevent and prohibit. The spirit of St. Francis will be found again upon this earth according to the will of man himself. A great responsibility, in all truth! Think, speak, act!

INSIDIOUS COMMUNISTS

To the Editor:—One of the more insidious things about Communism is the deceptive manner in which it is foisted off, or forced on, the general public.

A number of years ago, there was formed the International League against War and Fascism, and branches were immediately set up wherever a Communist party existed, the league in Canada being called the Canadian League against War and Fascism. However, the League against War and Fascism was soon exposed for exactly what it was, and consequently it did not meet with the success that the trick title might have drawn on under different leadership.

Now these same Communists have come forward again, having discarded the name League against War and Fascism for the equally insidious name (as far as they are concerned) the League for Peace and Democracy.

In conclusion then, it should be obvious to anyone acquainted with the true identity of the former League against War and Fascism that, the present so-called League for Peace and Democracy, is not for peace, nor is it for democracy, but on the contrary is a League for Communism, the antithesis of both the former ideals.

SUGGESTS A REMEDY

To the Editor:—A Times editorial of August 14 on "The Meaning of Pacts" ends up with a sort of cry of helplessness bordering on despair, i.e.: "There must be a restoration of faith, honor and national dignities or the whole moral structure of the world will collapse." It fails, however, to tell us how that restoration is to be obtained and leaves a groping-in-the-dark humanity no other alternative but that forlorn and vain recourse of pulling itself up by its own shoe strings.

All our great men are telling us of the terrible state we have gradually sunk into; they all tell us what we should do and what we should be, but as to how to do it or how to be it, they do not tell us. The moral structure of the world will not collapse, it is collapsing already; it makes those who realize it, stop their ears to the anticipated noise of a thunderous final crash.

Civilization is primarily a moral state on which all material achievements should be built. It is good for the first condition to outrun the latter; it is fatal for the latter to outrun the former, as we now witness.

There is, however, a remedy even though it be not one of man's own products. It is not found in an increase of material comfort, it is not found even in a greater standard of morality, good as this may be; it is found in a deeper God-given spirituality.

That this is obvious to a majority, Christ's own words testify to it when He says: "But you will not come, that ye might have life!"

The remedy then is at hand for whosoever will and it is found in a name, the name of Jesus; for He shall save His people from their sins.

As a child, unwilling to take his medicine, rejoices over the beneficent results after he has been compelled to take it, so will a rebellious world, which has persistently refused the proffered remedy (which is Christ), rejoice after He shall have compelled them to accept His way, and sway at His return to earth, when they will confess that He, Christ, is Lord indeed to the glory of God the Father!

May the dawn of a better era soon be upon us. "Even so come, Lord Jesus."

DOOMED TO HELL FIRE?

To the Editor:—I would like your correspondent, H.I., to know that my letter was abbreviated for want of space. Had it been printed in its entirety, H.I. and Mr. Eckman would possibly have had a better understanding of my meaning of sex.

H.I. advises me to read Corinthians I:13th chapter, "Though I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, etc." I could say the whole chapter through with many others from the Bible also the Psalms of David by memory while I was yet in my infancy.

Seems to me, too many have read this only to become as of sounding brass or tinkling cymbals; empty drums make most noise. "By their fruits (works) ye shall know them."

During my short span of life I have traveled in many countries and I have almost entirely failed to find reasonable evidence of the practical expression of Divine love resultant of Christianity. The Great War, perhaps, the bombing of Madrid, Barcelona, and Shanghai, are all examples of Divine love and advancement of Christian civilization.

True, we send missionaries out to convert the heathen to our way of thinking, but it is possible to believe that except for the few converted by the Christian missionaries, mostly for the building up of trade and commerce, the heathen or natives of remote countries are doomed to hell fire for the sole crime of not being acquainted with our religious beliefs.

The religion of a barbarian consists in the offering to his God the blood of his enemies; ill-instructed Christians are often little more reasonable.

National Kinsmen Head Is Visitor

In honor of the visit of Robert McGillivray, national president of the Kinsmen of Canada, members of the local unit this morning held a breakfast meeting in the Dominion Hotel. Other visitors included John Reid, district governor of Vancouver, and members of the Chilliwack and Vancouver units.

He spoke briefly on the success of the convention held this summer in London, and touched on the policy of the organization for the coming year. He will visit Victoria again in the spring.

The local club's meeting will be as usual, every second Thursday.

The Oak Bay Council yesterday afternoon authorized an expenditure of $75 for widening of Yale Street past St. Mary's Church Hall to allow cars to be turned more easily.

Mosleyites Face Counter-events

LONDON (CP)—Opposition to the proposed Fascist march from Westminster to Bermondsey on Sunday is following separate courses of action.

The mayor of Bermondsey, borough councillors and Ben Smith, member of Parliament for Rotherhithe, plan to hold a counter-demonstration with bands and banners.

A public announcement declared: "The whole of Bermondsey is furious at the proposed Fascist march and everything will be done to prevent its taking place."

SARNIA, Ont. (CP)—The cell room at the Sarnia police station was fumigated today. The order came after Harold Reynolds, 19, was taken from the cells to his home, under quarantine for infantile paralysis. He had been charged with not adhering to conditions of quarantine at his home, where his 2½-month-old sister, Orlan, had the disease, but was released when health authorities informed police he had not been previously instructed.

A request for allocation of a parking space for taxis on Oak Bay Avenue between Monterey Avenue and Clive Drive from the Quarter Cab Company was refused by the Oak Bay Council yesterday afternoon.

Moody Centenary Plans at Seattle men also said that 100 Seattle churches will join in commemorative services honoring the memory of the famed evangelist.

QUAGLIOTTI-BRUNETT

At 7 yesterday morning at St.
Andrew's Cathedral, Rev. Father
Albury united in marriage Matilda Lorraine, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brunett of North Battleford, Sask., and Mr.
William Quagliotti, only son of Dr. and Mrs. W. M. Quagliotti of 805 Cormorant Street.

The bride wore a pretty dress of white and blue georgette, a white hat and a corsage of gar-denias. She was attended by Miss Irene Quagliotti, sister of the bridegroom, and wore an ensemble in rust and black. The bridegroom was supported by Mr. W.
Pepper.

After a wedding breakfast at which relatives and a few intimate friends were present, the bride and bridegroom left for Seattle and on their return will make their home at 805 Cormorant Street.

MORRES-KELLY

St. Luke's Church, Winnipeg, was the setting for a military wedding last Saturday at 3.30 o'clock when Barbara Allison, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fraser Jellet Kelly, became the bride of Capt. Stephen Elliott Eckersall
Morres, son of Commander G. H.
Morres of London, Eng., and Mrs.
W. E. A. Morres of Shawigan
Lake, B.C. Rev. Canon W. Berta
Heene performed the ceremony.

The church was decorated with palms combined with tall standards of gladioli and chrysanthemums in gold and yellow tones, and lighted with candelabra holding cathedral candles.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin in empire style. The intricately draped bodice had a deep V at the front.
The long train was draped from the hip line, the festooned border held with shirred cordings of satin in a scroll design.

Her veil of tulle fell from a coronet caught at the nape of the neck with a semi-wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of Johanna Hill roses and lily of the valley.

The maid of honor, Miss Ruth Thompson, wore a director's gown of gold cloth with sheath skirt falling to a slightly flared train. Her headpiece was a tiny Juliet cap of gold cloth and she carried a bouquet of bronze pom-poms.

The two bridesmaids, Miss Babs Means and Miss Barbara Griffin, were dressed alike in gowns of Tournai blue velvet, styled like that of the maid of honor. Their headpieces were little blue velvet Juliet caps and they carried golden yellow pom-poms.

Capt. H. A. Sparling was best man.

As the bride and bridegroom left the church, the bridegroom's brother officers formed an arch of crossed swords for them to pass under. Amid a blare of trumpets, they drove off in a coach drawn by a six-horse team.

The ceremony was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents, Crescent court.
Mr. and Mrs. Kelly and Mrs.
Morres received with the bride party at the entrance to the living room, which was decorated with golden chrysanthemums,
Talisman roses and gladioli.

Mrs. Morres, the bridegroom's mother, chose a crepe gown of Coronation blue with lace sleeves and bolero effect of lace. Her hat was of matching blue felt showing an osprey feather. Her corsage was of Talisman roses.

Capt. and Mrs. Morres left for

STOMACH SUFFERERS

Read This Man's Story:

"SIX years ago," writes Mr. G. T., a transport maintenance man, "after months of severe stomach pain, I was operated upon. But the pains appeared again, going on and off continually."
"Recently a friend asked me if I had tried Maclean Brand Stomach Powder. I told him I had, and everything else as well, but evidently I had tried a similar powder with the same name, so I bought a bottle of the genuine Maclean Brand Stomach Powder, and after a few doses I noticed that the pains were disappearing and I was beginning to feel grand."

"Before this I was having sleepless nights, had gone right off my food, my tongue was coated. I am now feeling fine and can eat and enjoy anything."

Those burning, sour sensations of dyspepsia and gastritis, the "blown up" feeling and the pains that stomach trouble brings usually have an acid condition at their roots. Excess acid is gnawing away at stomach walls. Maclean Brand Stomach Powder neutralizes acidity, lays a protective coating over inflamed stomach lining, and helps nature restore stomach health.
Relieve your suffering. Get a bottle from your druggist.

Dr. Cora Hind Visited Soviet

WINNIPEG—Speaking of her visit to Russia, among 27 other countries in a recent trip around the world, Dr. Cora Hind, well-known agricultural writer, told of many obstacles set in her path by officials who did not want her to visit the farming areas.

Dr. Hind was offered of bad roads, lack of transportation, unsuitable time for inspection and other things that indicated official unwillingness to have her carry out much personal investigation.

"I did not keep a diary while on this part of my journey," she said. "I did keep a few notes in some markings of my own, which must add to me and nothing to them."

"I have been asked this question many times: Is religion dead in Russia? On a visit to one of the churches there, I found the answer. As we were leaving the church I happened to look into a small chapel and there, kneeling in silent reverence, two women were counting their beads.

Religion is not quite dead in Russia."

The Canadian writer visited Scotland and her journey took her to Ireland, thence to England and across to Norway and Sweden. From there she flew to Germany where, she said, few spoke English and even the car which conveyed her about the city had two Hitler emblems emblazoned upon it.

The use of garbage as fertilizer struck her as unusual, although the results seemed satisfactory to the Germans.

In Paris for 15 days she did not enter a shop. "It was a case of defence and not of desire," she said.

Miss Hind lectured for two hours, the proceeds going to the funds for entertainment of the Canadian Women's Press Club
triennial next summer.

Adopt Family Of Five Kiddies

DRESDEN, N.D. (AP)—Childless Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Williams planned to adopt three children, but they have five today.

The parents of the five, at boys for adoption. That was fine with the Williams.

When they left, however, three bright-eyed girls, frowned and pleaded for their two brothers.
The Williams took them along too. The youngsters range from one to 11 years.

Many Claim Royalty As Kin

Boston Society

BOSTON—This city is rich in descendants of kings. All lineages are traced to the legitimate issue of royalty, too, with no bounding over bars sinister, according to John S. Wurtis, a Philadelphia lawyer, chancellor of four organizations meeting here.

In place of the Italian leaders of the revolutionary affair, members of the Society of Americans of Royal Descent assumed the insignia of the order—a lion rampant in a shield, on an ermine field, the whole surmounted by a crown and attached to a ribbon of blue, red and white.

Also at the tea party were members of the Society of Descendants of Knights of the Most Noble Order of the Garter, the Colonial Order of the Crown and the Plantagenet Society. The Colonial Order members trace their descent to the Emperor Charlemagne. This was a society for men only, at one time, but now women are admitted and may wear the insignia of purple and gold, with a small dangling crown.

Anyone with a lineage from Geoffrey of Anjou (called Plantagenet) who lived in the early 12th century, can, on invitation, become a member of the Plan-

Informality of Roosevelt Visit Delights Victoria

Fine Personality of U.S. Leader Makes Great Impression

Newsman Record Interesting Happenings While Distinguished Visitors Here

The delightful informality of the visit of President Roosevelt and his family to Victoria yesterday really warmed the hearts of the huge crowd of 40,000 that welcomed them.

Except that they traveled here on a destroyer and that police lines were necessary to keep back the crowds, they might have been any American family dropping in on the city between boats.

There wasn't a top hat or a frock coat in sight. The nearest thing to it was Lieutenant-Governor Hamber's black derby, or perhaps G. G. McGeer's wing collar. The President had on a dark overcoat and crushed fedora hat that have been photographed scores of times.

The scarlet uniforms of the Princess Pats and the pipers and the dark blue of tars were the only regalia anywhere.

Members of the cabinet and the City Council were their ordinary business suits to go down and meet the President. This was all at the expressed wish of Mr. Roosevelt conveyed by wire to Premier Pattullo beforehand.

During the departure at Ogden Point, it was just like a family party. Mr. Roosevelt leaned on the rail of the destroyer, Mrs. Roosevelt stood beside him, and the photographers called for James Roosevelt to stand close to him. They were only a few feet from the crowd who had come to see them off, and they waved and chatted with the people.

While waiting for the destroyer to pull out, little Buzzie Dall came up and asked his grandfather whether they were going to Port Angeles or not. The President, who was holding on to the rail, leaned back slightly and looked at the little boy.

"Yes," he said as though he was answering an important question of a statesman, "We're going to Port Angeles."

Little Sistine Dall spoiled Mrs. Roosevelt's composure. She wanted to get to the railing and keep pushing at her grandmother. Finally Mrs. Roosevelt brought her to the front. When the destroyer blew its whistle, Sistine stuffed her fingers in her ears. Mrs. Roosevelt looked down at her, then laughed and pointed at her.

"I was told I was in the most English part of Canada," said Robert Post, New York Times correspondent. "Finally, when there was no ice for the Scotch and soda, I was sure of it."

The President made a special point of thanking the police heads for their excellent arrangements in handling the crowds. He shook hands with Commissioner J. H. McMullin of the provincial police, Assistant Commissioner T. W. S. Parsons and Police Chief Heatley, just before he boarded ship. "You did a great job," he said.

Victorians were impressed by the courtesies extended the press delegation accompanying the President. The destroyer Porter was placed at the disposal of the newspaper correspondents. At all times the President was most courteous, and assisted them in their work. The provincial police handled arrangements for them here, and left no stone unturned to assist them "cover" the story. A press room with batteries of typewriters, telegraph tickers and direct wires was set up in the Empress Hotel.

Mrs. Roosevelt earns her title as "the busiest woman in the United States." Speeding back to Seattle last night, she took an air liner from the Sound City to fulfill a speaking engagement in the east tonight.

There was only one fly in the ointment to mar the 100 per cent appreciation of the visiting journalists. That was when two of them mounted the running board of a car provided for the press and a passenger with no appreciation of deadlines and editions made some uncomplimentary remarks. For a time one or two of the visiting correspondents resented such discourtesy in a foreign country, but the matter was soon smoothed over.

At least one lady was annoyed yesterday. She was in a beauty parlor at the time the procession started through town. The operator left her customer for "a minute or two," but remained away until the procession had passed.

Victoria got a weather break in the radio and news publicity. When the party left Seattle it was in a down-pour of rain. There was a break in the rain Victoria had yesterday as the U.S. ships docked, which was duly noted in the accounts of the arrival.

Pipe Major Wallace will get a prized souvenir. Impressed with the pipers lined up to greet him at Government House, the President had one of his staff arrange for a photograph to be sent to the White House. He will autograph it and send it to the pipe-major.

Scoop picture of the day was secured by a Montreal cameraman. He was on the spot when the President ordered his car stopped to pick up and kiss little Lorraine Roberts as she handed him a flower.

The affection of the President and Mrs. Roosevelt for children was also shown during the drive through the city. At one point on Richmond Avenue a lone party of nine youngsters waited patiently in the rain for an hour. They felt well repaid when the President had his car slowed down to acknowledge their greetings.

Nothing emphasized the informality of the visit more, perhaps, than to see Premier Pattullo, who usually marks formal occasions in correct dress to the last detail, attired yesterday in a blue serge and felt hat and leading the crowd at the dock in the singing of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

A few enterprising street vendors made money on the day. One man traveling the Dallas Road route from the docks to Beacon Hill Park, where cars were parked in a continuous line, sold hundreds of pork pies. Another for a time sold Roosevelt pennants as fast as he could hand them out.

President Roosevelt carried away from Victoria a beautiful floral tribute, the gift of the city. While he was at Government House his cabin aboard the U.S.S. Phelps was decorated with a mass of roses, carnations and Michaelmas daisies at the instance of Mayor Andrew McGavin.

"I don't know what made me do it. But as soon as I saw him smiling I raised my hand and cheered madly," said one young matron after watching the procession. "It's funny, I don't usually do that sort of thing."

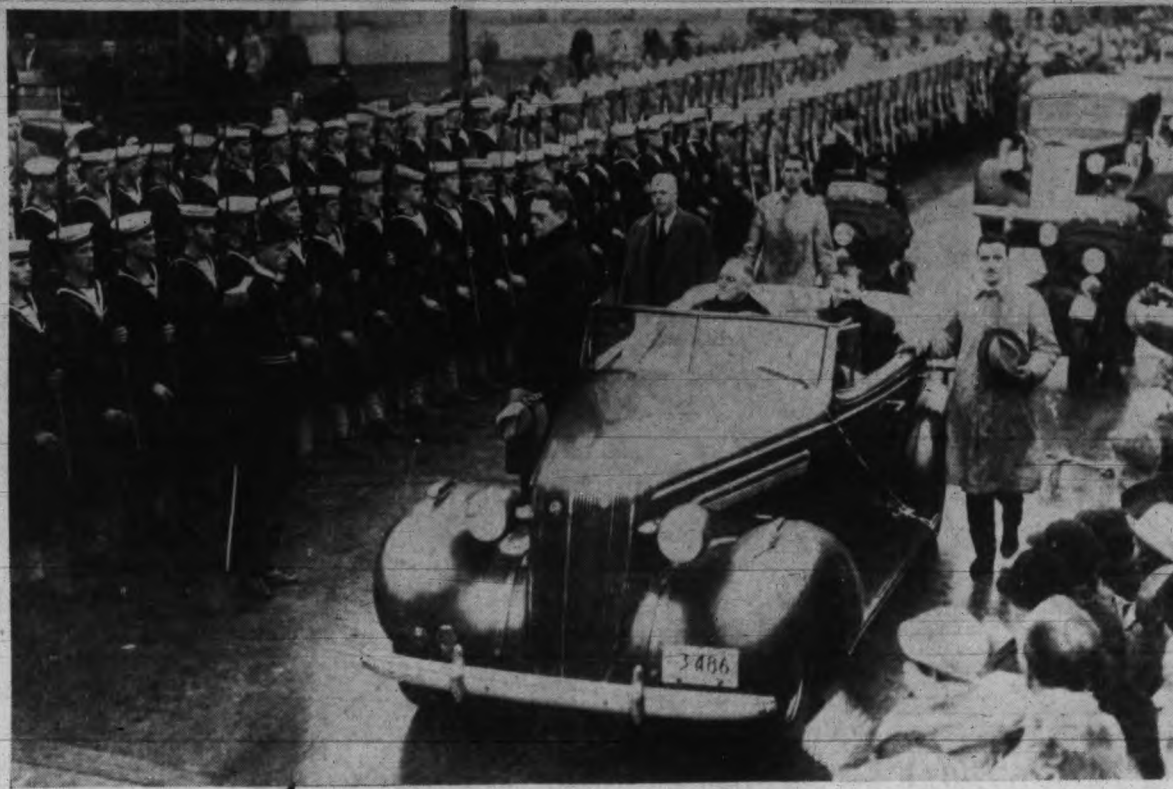

"Sistie" and "Buzzie," grandchildren of the President, were the only members of the visiting party who got a really good look at beautiful Government House grounds. The damp weather prevented a general tour of the grounds, but the two kiddies, accompanied by a Government House aide, hopped outside after lunch and spent a pleasant ten minutes wandering through the spacious estate.

One of the last gifts received by the President was a copy of The Victoria Daily Times carrying the account of his reception. It was handed to him over the destroyer's side as the gangplank was pulled aboard.

It was Victoria night on the radio last night and in the press of two nations. From every broadcasting network the President's visit to Victoria was described. Thirty-five thousand words were filed to all parts of Canada and the United States by the visiting pressmen and local services. At least 2,000 pictures were taken of the Presidential family at various times. The long-distance phone lines out of Victoria got their greatest use in years.

President marked the arrival of the President. It lacked but thirty seconds to 12.30 o'clock when the destroyer Phelps drew alongside the dock. But he was 90 minutes behind schedule leaving after the tumultuous welcome he received. His destroyer was late leaving Seattle also, but the speed was stepped up to 34 knots.

There were hundreds of young-

PRESENT ARMS FOR THE PRESIDENT—Crack units from the Royal Canadian Navy and Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry formed yesterday's guard of honor for the President of the United States. Above the President, with Lieut. Governor Eric W. Hamber, is shown driving past the guard at Ogden Point. Lieut. Fred Grubb, officer in charge of the Naval guard, is standing to attention at the left.

PRESIDENT'S FAREWELL TO VICTORIA—Just after this picture was taken at Ogden Point Docks as the U.S.S. Phelps pulled out yesterday afternoon, a crowd of several hundred officials broke into "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" and cheered the President and his gracious wife to the echo. This was the last pose of the President and Mrs. Roosevelt, with their son-in-law, Charles Boettiger, before they left the city for Port Angeles.

AN INTERNATIONAL INTERVIEW—From the side of his car, just before leaving for a short scenic drive around the city, President Roosevelt granted a short interview to Canadian and U.S. press representatives, during which he said he had discussed the B.C.-Alaska Highway with Lieut. Governor Hamber and Premier Pattullo. Taking notes on the President's remarks are: Bruce Hutchison and Leslie Fox of The Times staff, Robert Post of The New York Times, and Henry Canning, assistant to the President's private secretary, who is reporting his remarks in short hand.

sters in the dense crowd that lined the roadway leading to the Ogden Point sheds when the President was leaving. Every time a car went by a deafening cheer went up. But when the President finally arrived the young throats were not the least hoarse and a cheer more deafening than the previous ones went up, as flags were waved and hands clapped. The President's car stopped at the entrance and he appeared delighted. A small girl threw serpentine over him and he picked it up and waved it at her.

"I don't remember such excitement in Victoria since the relief of Ladysmith, in the South Africa war, and that was many, many years ago," one lady said. "Then, as today, people just looked their offices and went out into the streets."

About $400 worth of flash bulbs and hundreds of dollars' worth of film were used by photographers when the President was in Victoria. Irving Strickland, cameraman of The Times, used 22 flash bulbs in taking his pictures, and he used few compared with Vancouver, Seattle and eastern U.S. press photographers. Victoria cameramen were proud to have secured as fine a collection of pictures as were taken by anyone during the day.

From the moment the President arrived until he departed—except for a brief period while he ate—bulbs popped and flashed continually around him. The three score or more cameramen a densely packed crowd, which backed up in a hurry. The crowd roared good-naturedly, as it swung back at some confusion, with sailors literally on their feet. The boys in blue didn't even smile, although some of them had to exercise tremendous self-control to avoid laughing. To the crowd that column of advancing sailors looked like a stone way on the move.

Restaurants and lunch counters in Victoria were absolutely deserted between 12.30 and 1.15 yesterday. Then a sudden avalanche of hungry humanity descended on them and waitresses worked at top speed and many patrons were forced to wait in line.

"Princess" steamers of the B.C. Coast Service were in full dress in honor of the President's visit. Ss. Princess Charlotte, on her way past Ogden Point, dipped her flag to salute U.S.S. Phelps and U.S.S. Porter.

It was just two weeks short of two years that the "silent partner" of Franklin Delano Roosevelt called at Victoria. The "silent partner" of the chief executive of the United States is John Nance Garner, the vice-president, and he was here with a Congressional party to the Philippine Islands on October 15, 1935. So Victoria feels well acquainted with the present administration at Washington.

It was a vastly different crowd that watched the President leave than the one that saw him arrive. As the U.S.S. Phelps drew alongside the dock and the President was seen sitting on deck there, the crowd, mostly officials of one kind or another, was almost subdued. But when the party left it was all cheers, led by Premier Pattullo. The parting shot was the singing of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" by the hundreds of assembled officials.

It was quite evident that a lot of Victoria's officialdom was not used to being around when a boat was landing as the Phelps pulled alongside the dock yesterday. Despite the repeated warnings of "Heads Up" from many of the ship's officers, a number of city aldermen and their wives narrowly missed being hit by the lead ball which carried the mooring lines through the air to the dock.

Victorians had an unusual opportunity yesterday to see how the United States press cameraman stop at nothing to get pictures when they want them. One man was all but thrown into the water by a hefty secret service man when he persisted in using the engine hood of the President's car for a camera rest.

Incidentally those secret service men created the impression of being gentle but firm. All were smartly dressed and as long as the crowd showed a willingness to keep a reasonable distance from the President's car they showed wonderful courtesy.

It seemed funny to Canadians to see a bunch of smartly groomed secret service men walking around with their right hands in their pockets all the time. They were plenty used to their duty however, for, no matter what was going on they could always be seen carefully scrutinizing the faces of the surrounding crowd.

These strong, silent men who guarded the President are not G-men at all. In fact they do not like to be known as G-men. They are secret service men who have to be lawyers and athletes. "We do the sleuthing. The G-men do the shooting," one of them said.

Secret service men have to be athletes because they sometimes have to run for miles. Whenever the President's car slows down they get off the running board and walk or run along beside it. This is to keep the crowds back, as when the car goes slow the crowds usually press forward. When the car picks up speed they jump on the running board. In Seattle Tuesday night they ran for two miles.

The men who guard the President always carry guns. They could be recognized by the way they kept one hand in their pocket. But mostly they use their hands. They push the crowds back. If there is trouble they make a point of hitting first.

"The President would feel honored if he knew how far we came just to get a look at him," said one lady in the crowd. She had come from Duncan, leaving the up-island town at 1 o'clock and getting down to Ogden Point in time to see the President leave.

That democratic spirit which is part of the President was exemplified as he rode in an open car during the day. Knowing thousands wished to see him he desired an open car despite the drizzle. "If people brave the rain to see him he will take it himself. He's like that," one of the U.S. newspapermen explained.

"Say! They step on the gas in this town!" a Seattle P.I. cameraman remarked when he saw a Victoria Times with two pictures of the arrival of the President shortly after the destroyer docked—something of a record in speeding picture-taking developing and engraving.

Two small dogs kept the crowd amused during the wait outside Government House. One of them, a pugnacious Scotty, took a dislike to the horse ridden by a provincial policeman. For about five minutes it kept trying to jump up and sink its teeth into the horse's tail. The horse never batted an eyelid and preserved its dignity until a city policeman shooed the dog away, amid the cheers of the crowd. The other dog chased everything in sight, especially police motorcycles, and kept the crowd roaring with laughter.

Noise to End At Tabernacle

Suspended Sentence For Pastor in Woodstock, Ont.; Costs Are $21.75

WOODSTOCK, Ont. (CP)—Rev. E. N. O. Kulbeck, pastor of Grace Tabernacle, was found guilty today on a charge of creating a nuisance. Neighbors had objected to the tabernacle services being too long and too loud. While sentence was suspended, Mr. Kulbeck was told he would be given a week in which to pay court costs of $21.75. Otherwise he would have to spend 60 days in jail. The minister announced he would consult the board of his church before reaching a decision.

Magistrate McCrimmon, announcing he would suspend sentence, told the minister that in future he would have to close his services by 9.30 p.m.

The President traced his association with Canada back 54 years when, as a child of just over a year, he was taken to Nova Scotia "to aid my teething."

The President proposed the toast to The King with dignity. The table for the Government House luncheon was arranged with autumn flowers, chrysanthemums and zinnias alternating and tapers burning from the antique silver candelabra heightened the effect. The guests were piped into the dining-room.

Before leaving Government House the local guests were presented to Mr. Roosevelt for a few moments' chat. The President told them he had been greatly touched by the schoolchildren's display and by the warmth of the whole reception.

Newsman Guests Of Government

Reporters Covering President's Visit Entertained at Luncheon

Newspapermen who came to town yesterday with the Presidential party were relieved of all official duties for an hour and a half of the President's stay when they were guests of the provincial government at an informal luncheon in the Empress Hotel.

Presided over by Hon. G. M. Weir, Minister of Education, the gathering had a distinct air of informal international goodwill and afforded an opportunity for local newspapermen to hear of the activities of their United States colleagues.

Facilities for writing their stories and wiring them direct from the hotel were provided. In extending the greetings of the province Dr. Weir spoke of the occasion as being a splendid gesture of goodwill and an historic one when a President of the United States visited British Columbia.

Felicitations from south of the boundary line were extended by Commander G. Taylor, U.S.N. Commander Taylor said he had never been to Canada before, but it was certainly an auspicious occasion for his first visit. He expressed the hope that the international friendship would continue and that there would never be occasion to fortify the 3,000-mile international boundary. He proposed the toast to the United States and Canada.

Further reference to the singularity of Canada and United States having an unguarded border was made by Robert Post of The New York Times, who, on behalf of the newsmen, thanked the government for its generous hospitality.

The welcome of the Canadian Navy was extended by Commander J. E. W. Oland.

Following luncheon, several members of the party, at their own requests, were taken on short drives around the city before returning to their ship.

WANTS TO TRY ISLAND FISHING

President Roosevelt Hopes to Cast a Fly Here Some Time in Future

President Roosevelt hopes to come back to Victoria and Vancouver Island and enjoy his favorite sport of fishing.

He intimated as much at the luncheon in Government House yesterday when replying to a toast proposed by the Lieutenant-Governor.

On his arrival here Mr. Roosevelt had been presented by G. G. McGeer, K.C., with a silver spoon on behalf of the Tye Club of Campbell River.

By PETE SALLAWAY

IT IS interesting to watch men sweat in the hot furnace of competition and see how they react with victory or defeat—happening in the next tick of the clock. Four times inside of an hour spectators at the United States western open championship at Cleveland, had the opportunity to observe young men, tired, determined, hopeful, approach the final green needing but a well-timed, well-aimed blow of a putter to gain glory and golf.

Sam Snead, Ralph Guldahl, Horton Smith and Paul Runyan each came to bat at the finish with the crowd murmuring all he has to do is sink this one. Richard McCann, well-known golf writer has described the reactions of these four great players as they finished their rounds.

Snead was the first to stride on to the carpet in the vestibule of victory. Sam was fighting in the dark. He didn't know whom or what he had to beat, because he was the first of the possible winners to come home.

His approach shot was good, but not good enough. He was 22 feet from the pin. "If he can only sink that he may win," the crowd said. And you could tell that Sam was saying the same to himself.

He examined the grass as carefully as a fellow who's lost his carfare. He took so long measuring the distance, judging the contour, that you could have been counting every blade of grass.

But he was almost jaunty when he finally stepped up to the ball and stroked. The ball ran true and fast... five feet, 10 feet, 15 feet... there was a rising murmur of ah-h-h-h! from the crowd... then a sinking awwwwww! The ball had stopped within an inch of the bucket.

Snead lifted his club up and looked at the blade face to face. He didn't say a word, but you could see he was telling the darned thing just what he thought of it. Then he brushed the ball for a 289 and elbowed through the crowd.

"Dammit," said Sammy, "but I'm lucky at that."

Guldahl, a hulking giant of a man, crossed the green and went down into a trap. His ball had dug into the sand. It was a tough shot.

He could take three strokes and still tie Snead, but he knew that Smith was coming down the home stretch with a hot hand and he just had to get down in two. Maybe even that wouldn't be good enough.

But this was no time to fret. What was a tough shot now, anyway? Hadn't he just made one? Hadn't his second shot plunked into the rough behind a tree, and hadn't he been forced to risk his life and the tree's limbs to get up to where he was?

He swung... the ball floated up in a tiny cloud of sand... struck the green and rolled up to a foot of the cup... that isn't the wind sighing in the trees—that's Guldahl. He pushed the ball in for a 288... "That beats Snead, Ralph."

"Yeah," said Guldahl, "but what about Smith?" His hand was shaking a little while he wrote his score.

Smith hid his chagrin well as he studied his putt. Certainly, he must be raging inside. Hadn't he held the title in the bag until that 18th tee when his sure-fire chances went flying off with his out-of-bounds drive?

But now, lying 15 feet from the cup, he needed that putt to win, two to tie. Play it safe? Or shoot the works? Grimly, he shot the works... and shuddered and almost shouted.

The ball stopped so near the cup that a puff of wind could have compounded it. In the wind which had whirled about Smith all day seemed to stop at that moment. And he had to be content with a 288, a tie.

"Smile, Horton," the cameraman said.

"I can't produce one," Smith said, grimly.

"Hey, get off the green!" a voice boomed. "Here comes Runyan!"

TWO NEW YORK CLUBS PREPARE FOR BIG TEST

Teams Will Battle For Championship For Second Successive Year

Runners-up Set

With the world series battle line-up all settled, and little old New York once more in exclusive possession, the also-rans of the major league baseball races settled down today to the business of picking the choicest spots remaining before the season ends Sunday.

When Carl Hubbell, the old conqueror, put on the clincher with a five-hit, 2 to 1 win over the Phillies in the opener of a double bill yesterday—his 22nd of the year—the pennant races officially closed. The Giants had retained their National League laurels and qualified to tangle with their New York neighbors, the Yankees, in the series beginning Wednesday.

It didn't matter that the Phils won the second game of the double bill, 6 to 2, against a makeshift line-up, or that the Yankees dropped their first win bill of the year, losing 8 to 3 and 6 to 3 to the Philadelphia Athletics.

Yesterday's results also ended the fights for second place in both circuits. The Jinxed Chicago Cubs, taking their fifth straight game by topping the Cincinnati Reds, 4 to 1, rested securely in the National League runner-up spot, eight and a half games in front of their nearest rivals.

DETROIT SAFE
The Detroit Tigers, despite a 10 to 3 kicking around by the St. Louis Browns yesterday, couldn't be ousted from the No. 2 American League berth.

The rest of the first division in each loop remained in doubt, however. The Pittsburgh Pirates belted the St. Louis Cardinals 4 to 3 yesterday and took a 2½ game edge in the National League tussle for third position.

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox, in third place, 1½ games in front of the Cleveland Indians, will have a tough time fighting off the Tribe. Just to make it tougher, the Tribe clubbed out a twin win over the Sox, 6 to 4 and 4 to 1, yesterday. Undeclared Johnny Allen pitching his 15th straight win in the opener, and Bobby Feller fanning 11 in the seven-inning nightcap.

There's an outside chance that both Boston clubs can better their current fifth-place standings before the season winds up. The baffling Bees, taking a doubleheader from the Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday, 6 to 2 and 3 to 2—thereby stretching the losing streak of the Brooklyn beauties to 14 straight—can overhaul the Cardinals by a slim percentage margin if things break right.

The Red Sox may yet wind up in fourth place, although yesterday they gained only an even break with the Washington Senators, taking the nightcap, 9 to 3, after dropping the opener, 4 to 3, to their old teammate, Wes Ferrell.

Brooklyn's double defeat yesterday left their hold on sixth place decidedly shaky at ½ game over the Phillies.

But Maxie got up at eight and went on to slap and cuff his way to a decision over the sensational young knockout artist from Midland, Mich.

TRAIL—New Westminster Salmonbellies downed Trail 21 to 13 here last night in the first of a two-game total point series to decide British Columbia's representative in the Mann Cup box lacrosse final.

Trail, making the interior's first bid in provincial senior lacrosse, fought into a 4 to 3 lead by the end of the first quarter, but lagged from then on.

Salmonbellies were ahead 9 to 5 at half time, and rode into a 17 to 6 advantage by the opening of the final and fourth session.

The teams meet here again tomorrow night.

ORILLIA WINS

By last night's win Terriers completed their fourth consecutive eastern Canada title playoff victory. Just before going to Montreal this week the Terriers beat Cornwall Indians for the all-Ontario championship after dropping the first game at home then taking the next two of the series.

MRS. MOODY SHOWS FORM

Former Tennis Queen Plays Doubles With Budge in Coast Tourney

BERKELEY, Calif.—Mrs. Helen Wills Moody still has the brilliant form and drive and slashing backhand that carried her to international tennis heights as "little pooker face" nearly a decade ago.

Paired with amateur Don Budge of Oakland the 30-year-old former queen of the courts displayed her old-time form as they eliminated Dorothy Andrus of Stamford, Conn., and Bobby Riggs, Los Angeles, yesterday.

It was in the 48th annual Pacific Coast championships, in which Mrs. Moody is entered only in mixed doubles. She played easily, placing her shots accurately and serving powerfully.

Mrs. Moody and Budge won the match, 6-3, 4-6, 6-1. They lost the second set mainly because of Riggs' well-placed lobs and smashes, but won the third in five minutes.

Gene Smith, young Piedmont, Calif., school teacher, will meet Germany's Baron Gottfried von Cramm in today's quarter-final round. Budge will oppose Jiri Yamagishi, Japan's No. 1 ace, in quarter-finals.

Yesterday Smith sprang a surprise win over Wayne Sabin, Portland, 6-1, 2-6, 6-4. Von Cramm put out Dick Bennett, Oakland, California state champion, 4-6, 6-2, 6-2.

While California takes on Oregon State at Berkeley and Stanford meets Oregon at Eugene, the Huskies and Trojans, who with California's Bears are considered the big three of the conference, will meet on about even terms.

Les Patrick Set To Open School

Scottish Will Not Enter Team

It was announced yesterday by club officials the Canadian Scottish would not have a senior rugby 15 in the Victoria Union this season. The decision cuts the list of entries in the senior loop to five, with the J.B.A.A., Garrison, Navy, Oak Bay Wanderers and Victoria College participating.

The Scottish will have teams in the senior B section, and also in the intermediate league.

PADRES WIN THIRD GAME

Make It Three in a Row Over Portland in Coast Baseball Final

SAN DIEGO—The educated bat of San Diego's veteran Rupert Thompson, showing a decided favoritism to home runs with men on the bags, had virtually knocked the Portland Beavers out of the running for the 1937 Pacific Coast League baseball title today.

The Padres made it three in a row over the Beavers last night. A homer by Thompson with two on had a lot to do with the 5 to 1 score. In the first game of the series Tuesday, Rubert hit a pair of home runs, one with two on, and the second in the tenth to win the game, 4 to 3.

George Myatt and Joe Berkowitz were on base when Thompson hit for a round trip last night, his only hit of the game. The leading hitter of the Padres was Manuel Salvo, big speedball pitcher, who did his own cause plenty of good with three out of four, including a two-bagger in the sixth. He scored the Padres' fifth run when he came home on George Myatt's single in the same inning.

Has Smart Bunch of Amateur Hockeyists For Training at Winnipeg

NEW YORK—Having issued the call to regulars and berth-seekers to rally at Winnipeg next week, Lester Patrick, dynamic head of New York Rangers, headed west today, mapping out rebuilding plans for his extensive hockey farm system.

Chief concern of Patrick was his "Broadway Blues," Stanley Cup finalists last season. The regulars will not get to the training camp until the camp has seen a 10-day gathering of ambitious amateurs some of whom the Ranger mentor hopes will be good enough to reinforce his Rovers of the United States Eastern Amateur League.

Several of last year's Rovers, including Kilby MacDonald, starry centre from Ottawa, and Lude Wareing, left wingman of Regina, will move up to Philadelphia Ramblers, Ranger farm in the International-American circuit. MacDonald and Wareing won all-star rating last season.

Clint Smith and Bobby Kirk of Vancouver, Bryan Hextall of Winnipeg and Eddie Wares of Calgary last season with Philadelphia, are almost certain to move up to the National club. All are forwards and won praise from Patrick for their sparkling play last season in the Inter-Am and in N.H.L. games they played while replacing injured Rangers.

SOUND DEFENCE

Defensively Patrick thinks his squad is sound with Dave Kerr in goal, Art Coulter, Ott Heller, Babe Pratt and Joe Cooper, on the rearward, but the Philadelphia players will have to be worked into spots with Neil and Mac Colville, Cecil Dillon, Butch Keeling, Alex Shibley, Lynn Patrick, Phil Watson and Coach Frank Boucher.

Patrick has stops scheduled at Detroit and Chicago and it would not be surprising if the "Silver Fox" negotiated a deal or two with champion Red Wings or the Black Hawks to help out his renovating process.

From Canada's leading amateurs Patrick has selected for tryouts at Winnipeg: Bill Allum, Jack Boyd, Jim Corbett, Gordon Keddie, Loui Labovitch, Alfie Pike, Len Schreiber, Jimmy Skinner and Ernie Storg, of Winnipeg; Harry Braithwaite, Toronto; George Coops and Joe Carveth, Regina; Frase Cummings, Young's Point, Ont.; Mayer Flett and Bud Foley, Edmonton; Billy Westbury and Johnny Kelly, Yorkton, Sask.; Ed Martinson, Battleford, Sask.; Billy Owen, Regina; Mitchell and Morris Pechet, Carberry, Man.; Hugh Sutherland, Easton, Sask.; Ernie Westbury, Flin Flon, Man.; Elmer Lach, Weyburn, Sask.; Wilbur Hillier, Kitchener, Ont.; Desse Smith and Frankie Boucher Jr. (nephew of Ranger Frank), Ottawa.

LEXINGTON, Ky.—Rosalind bettered and equalled several trotting standards in capturing the 48th running of the $2,000 Transylvania at yesterday's grand circuit.

The second heat equalled the world record for a four-year-old filly, held jointly by Miss Bertha Hanover, Tara and Calumet Evelyn.

Rosalind's time for the final heat gave the four-year-old a clear title.

SUN AND RAIN BELOW NORMAL

September Also Set Record
For Heat: Yearly Rainfall
Just About Average

September set a new heat record for Victoria and sunshine and rainfall were both below average, according to the monthly weather report released at the Meteorological Observatory, on Gonzales Hill this morning.

On September 14 the temperature went up to 88 degrees, which was an all-time record for heat in September.

The mean temperature for the month was 58 degrees, which was 1 degree above the average. The minimum temperature was 45 on September 23 and 24, and the minimum on the grass was 34 on September 24.

For 197 hours during September the sun shone down on Victoria. But this was 9 hours below the average.

Rainfall was small. There was a total of .38 of an inch, which was 1.15 inches below the normal. For the first nine months of 1937 Victoria has had a total of 15.75 inches of rain, which is .38 of an inch below the average.

NARCOTIC CASE BEFORE COURT

Arguing that possession of pills containing a narcotic was sufficient merit for conviction, whether or not the person who possessed them knew their contents, J. A. McGeer for the Crown today replied to the case for the appellant, Wong Loon, sentenced to six months with hard labor and fined $200 in Vancouver Police Court.

Earlier in the morning R. L. Maitland, K.C., counsel for the appellant, had asked the conviction be quashed. Yesterday he sought to establish the fact that Wong Loon had shown no knowledge that the pills had contained morphine.

As Mr. McGeer pressed the point that the B.C. law made possession, without knowledge of content, illegal, Mr. Justice Sloan voiced the opinion that it was never the intention of Parliament to put innocent people in jail, Mr. McGeer submitted that possession had been made a criminal offence to prevent people from pleading ignorance of content so as to escape conviction.

Funeral services will be held at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel on Monday at 10:30, followed by interment in the family plot in Ross Bay cemetery.

He was also active in local sporting circles and was at one time a boxer, being a star pupil of "Pop" Foster's, while he also acted as trainer for the Cougars when they held the world hockey championships here.

THIEVES WRECK STOLEN TRUCK

Machine Taken From Island
Freight Yard Dropped Over 40-Foot Bank

Thieves who stole a truck from the Island Freight Company yard on Cormorant Street last night crashed it over a 40-foot embankment in the Inner Harbor, according to a city police report.

The truck was found after 7:30 this morning standing on its front at the water's edge at the foot of Herald Street, leading against the city stables. It was badly wrecked and considered beyond repair.

Police today were investigating the theft in an effort to locate the thieves. It is not known what time the yard was entered during the night, but it is assumed the thieves drove the truck direct from the yard to the embankment.

At the top of the bank it is assumed the engine was left running and the truck put in gear as the driver got out.

Vancouver Asks "Better Terms"

Long Brief Presented to Provincial Government Today
On Finances

Vancouver presented a request for "better terms" to the provincial government today and was assured that its plea will be included in the British Columbia presentations to the Royal Commission on Dominion-provincial finances.

Mayor George C. Miller headed a delegation which had an interview with the provincial cabinet. It included Alderman J. W. Cornett and Thos. H. Kirk, J. K. Macrae, K.C., G. Lyall Fraser, Col. G. H. Dorrell, G. E. Winter, City Comptroller Frank Jones and Corporation Counsel B. E. McTaggart.

In a 3,000-word brief the delegation summed up the financial difficulties of Vancouver. In the main it asked for:

Restoration of provincial grants to Vancouver on the same basis as 1931.

A larger share of amusement taxes collected by the province.

That a larger share of educational costs be borne by the province.

The right to collect license fees and taxes now collected by the province from businesses supplied by fire and police protection by the city.

A share of the gasoline tax collected by the government.

That the government assume the added burden placed on the city of Vancouver by amendments to the Superannuation Act in 1929 and 1935.

That the government amend the Superannuation Act to make it actuarially sound.

The brief claimed that reduction and withdrawal of grants by the government have deprived the city of approximately $700,000 a year since 1931.

It would be disastrous if British Columbia's largest city, containing approximately two-fifths of the province's population and more than half of its taxable wealth, were compelled to default, the brief says.

The delegation, said Mayor Miller, was assured by Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, who presided at the meeting, that the arguments would be given careful consideration. While no immediate relief could be promised by the government the whole question would be before the Royal Commission and it was expected something would be done after the commission's work is finished.

The condition of Norman MacDonald, 1051 View Street, who is suffering from extensive head injuries, was reported as favorable at St. Joseph's Hospital, where he is resting today following an accident on Fort Street yesterday afternoon. According to city police, Mr. MacDonald was crossing Fort Street, between Quadra and Blanshard Streets, when he was struck by a car driven west on Fort Street by A. E. Evans, 3770 Craigmillar Avenue. He was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital in the C. & C. Ambulance, where Dr. Gordon Kenning attended him.

F. W. Zeigler was elected chairman of Ward Two Victoria Conservative Association at the annual meeting in Conservative headquarters last night. Mrs. F. Mackenzie was chosen secretary, and the following as delegates to the central executive: J. J. Coley, C. H. Skinner, Mrs. R. Ripley and R. Sheddard. Herbert Anson, M.P.P.-elect, spoke on plans for the approaching session of the Legislature saying the Conservative opposition members had agreed to divide their work in analyzing government bills.

Pressure of business in the assessor-collector's department, where the influx of taxes by those seeking to avoid payment of the 1 per cent penalty to be applied tomorrow has been excessively heavy, caused the adjournment.

Sees Value Of Alaska Highway
Road Would Be Great Tourist Asset and Broaden Outlook, Says Roosevelt

Great benefits from the construction of a road from the United States to Alaska were seen by President Franklin D. Roosevelt in the creation of a greater understanding and broadening of interests by United States people who would use it. Mayor Andrew McGavin stated today in an informal report on his conversations with Victoria's distinguished visitor yesterday.

"President Roosevelt spoke of the Alaska highway as a tourist attraction," Mayor McGavin said. "He remarked that some people had criticised the suggested road on the grounds that it would not be a paying proposition. But he thought it would pay in making people travel, broaden their outlook and bring them a greater understanding through closer touch with other parts of the world."

The President said he would have liked more time to enjoy the beauties of Victoria. On his short trip up to Government House he was delighted with the warmth of the Scottish element here, and mentioned the fact that he could trace his decent back to Scottish Murrays on the maternal side.

The signatures of all members of the Roosevelt family who were on the party were inscribed in the mayor's official visitors' book yesterday.

Site Commanding
Narrows Reserved

Yorke Island, a small rocky bluff in a commanding position at the northern entrance to Seymour Narrows in Johnstone Strait has been reserved by the province for the Department of National Defence, it was announced at the Legislative Buildings today.

The island is just off the north end of Hardwick Island. While the purpose for which the federal department wants the site was not stated, it is presumed, from its position, to be for fortifications commanding the inland seaway on the east of Vancouver Island.

Rally Held By Baptist Church

The annual autumn rally of the members and friends of Emmanuel Baptist Church took the form of a social evening in the schoolroom on Wednesday evening. Rev. Dr. A. S. Imrie, pastor, was in the chair, and after welcoming the many friends who gathered, spoke of the work to be done by the church during the coming months. Deacon G. F. Waites expressed the deep appreciation of the members of the devoted work of the pastor and Mrs. Imrie, and as a small token, each was presented with a book. A letter of greeting was read from J. R. Clements, senior deacon, and Mrs. Clements. A programme of music and readings was given followed by serving of refreshments; readings by Mrs. B. Chadwick, Miss Opel Abercrombie and W. J. Miles; instrumental trio, D. G. Anstey, violin, T. H. Anstey, cello, and Mrs. G. Anstey, piano; humorous quartette, Miss A. Rhodes, Bill Miles, Jack Kirk and Ted Boulden. W. H. Muncy conducted the choir in two delightful numbers, "Creation's Hymn," (Beethoven), and "Eriskray Love Lilt," (Miss W. Scovcroft was the accompanist).

Roosevelt Sends

The President's appreciation of his visit to Victoria yesterday was expressed in a telegram received at Government House today.

The telegram follows: Lieut. Governor E. W. Hamber. Please tell Mrs. Hamber and your staff how much we appreciated your generous hospitality. Our visit was all too short and we look forward to the time when we can return. Mrs. Roosevelt joins me in sending you both our best wishes.

CHINA URGING LEAGUE ACT

Committee Quickly to Report On Request Japan Be Declared Aggressor

GENEVA (AP)—China today asked the League of Nations advisory committee on the Japanese-Chinese conflict to declare her a victim of Japanese aggression.

The request embodied the draft resolution submitted to the committee by Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo, Chinese delegate to the League, and demanded that the committee:

1. "Condemn the violation of international law and contractual obligations" of which the resolution accuses Japan;
2. "Condemn the illegal blockade of the Chinese coasts";
3. Declare the facts "constitute a case of external aggression."

LARGE AREAS INVADDED

The text of the draft resolution follows:

"Whereas Japan has taken the initiative in sending to China powerful armies which have invaded large portions of Chinese territory;

"Whereas, Japan has proclaimed a maritime blockade of China and her fleet has bombarded various Chinese ports;

"Whereas, the Japanese air force has also proceeded in Chinese territory to aerial bombardment, the illegal character of which has been condemned by resolution of this committee on September 27, 1937, which was endorsed by the Assembly meeting September 28;

"Whereas, Japan has rejected overtures made to her with a view to arrival at a pacific settlement of the dispute;

"Whereas, she has particularly declined the invitation made to her September 21 to participate in the work of the advisory committee;

"Whereas, Japan has undertaken hostilities in defiance of the provisions of the Washington Treaty of February 22, 1922, of the Pact of Paris of April 27, 1928, of which she was a signatory, and of the fundamental rules of international law;

"Therefore, the advisory committee condemns the violation of international law and contractual obligations;

"It condemns the illegal blockade of the Chinese coasts;

"It declares the facts noted above constitute a case of external aggression against a member of the League of Nations under article X of the covenant."

The resolution was immediately referred to a just-created sub-committee which immediately met in closed session.

Capitol Stars Warner Baxter

Popular Leading Man Plays Opposite Joan Bennett in Entertaining Film

Warner Baxter and Joan Bennett will be seen for the first time in Technicolor in Walter Wanger's "Vogues of 1938," the spectacular musical comedy, which comes to the Capitol Theatre today.

Offering a glimpse of next year's fashions in gowns, songs and dances, this merry story of Manhattan centres around the romance of New York's leading couturier, played by Baxter, and a charming debutante, played by Joan, who jilts a millionaire (Alan Mowbray) on her wedding day to become a mannequin.

Also featured in the cast are Helen Vinson, as Baxter's selfish, stage-struck wife; Mischa Auer, as a penniless Russian prince; Jerome Cowan as the shady theatrical producer who stars Helen in a flop show that it takes Baxter's last cent to back; and those gorgeous Walter Wanger Models, "the most photographed girls in the world."

Britain Crushes Holy Land Terror

Police Round Up Arab Leaders in Large Scale Move in Palestine

JERUSALEM (AP)—Great Britain struck with an iron fist today to crush a new wave of terrorism in the Holy Land. In sweeping measures, the authorities outlawed the Arab Higher Committee and started rounding up its influential members.

With telephone communication from the city suspended and roads heavily guarded, police carried out their large-scale operations before dawn.

Silently they surrounded houses of Arab leaders and searched them one after the other. Dr. Hussein Khalidi, mayor of Jerusalem, and Fud Saba, secretary of the Higher Committee, were reported to have been arrested and taken aboard the cruiser Sussex at Haifa.

The manager of an Arabian bank was taken into custody. Leaders caught in the police dragnet may be deported to Perim Island in the Red Sea.

Terrorism in the Holy Land reached a climax last Sunday when the British Commissioner for Galilee and his bodyguard were assassinated as they left the Anglican church at Nazareth.

All of Palestine's land frontiers were guarded and troop detachments were on duty at the Allenby Bridge and other crossings over the River Jordan.

Major-General A. P. Wavell was in command of the seven battalions of British troops and other land and air forces in Palestine.

FOUR MONTHS' TERRORISM

The swift action to suppress the disorders climaxed four months of terrorism and assassinations, in which the British proposal to

Endeavour Captain Washed Overboard

Back in England, Crew Tells Graphic Story of Fight With Atlantic Storms

GOSPORT, Eng., (AP)—The racing yacht Endeavour I, proud and defiant, reached the slip of her berth today, bringing back from the Atlantic one of the most thrilling sagas of the sea this historic English port town ever has known.

Standing on deck as the 1934 America's Cup challenger slipped through the calm waters of the Solent was Ned Heard, Endeavour's bronzed, 50-year-old skipper, who was swept overboard in an Atlantic hurricane, caught a loose wire and pulled himself back to complete the epic 2,700-mile voyage under sail.

For the last 20 miles of the voyage, up through the Needles and down the Solent, Captain Heard had nothing to do. The yacht Viva II, from which he cut loose east of Nantucket, Mass., September 13 in a gale, had picked him up again and towed him home.

MODERN HERO

Capt. Heard, acclaimed as a modern hero, conceded the hurricane was "pretty bad," but minimized the fury of the storm and his own narrow escape.

"I was not washed clear of the boat at all," he said, "just over the side."

His crew said, however, the captain was pulled back just as he was dangling in the water. The storm hit the yacht at 10.30 p.m., September 13, the sailors said, and lasted throughout the night.

"We did not know we had lost the Viva until next morning," Capt. Heard said, "and then we could not raise anybody because of the limited range of our wireless."

"We were being towed at the time the storm hit and naturally had no canvas up. If we had had anything but bare poles aloft we should not have been able to get them down before they had torn away most of the rigging."

A glance below deck indicated something of the severity of the storm. The mess tables were torn away and the cabin table, which had been bolted to the floor, was wrenched loose and dashed to bits.

Capt. Heard was somewhat annoyed by the excitement as the yacht arrived with a crowd of some 20,000 persons lining both sides of the channel.

PASSPORT WELCOME

Seamen of this home port of Endeavour I decked the town with bunting, installed batteries of sirens, and tested their ships' whistles to give the sturdy yacht a rousing welcome last night.

The Endeavour, missing in the North Atlantic for 17 days, sighted the shores of England earlier yesterday.

Relatives and friends of the crew crowded the town. Yachts in full dress, small boats and His Majesty's warships Warspite, Glasgow and Iron Duke filled the waterfront with flying flags and pennants.

All England rejoiced as the vessel ended her perilous 2,700-mile voyage across the Atlantic safely. The craft broke away from its towing vessel off the United States coast in a violent gale.

The mayor of nearby Portsmouth has ordered a special reception at a local hotel for the crew. T. O. M. Sopwith, who raced the Endeavour I and her sister ship, the Philante, into America's Cup races, brought his large pleasure yacht, the Philante, into the harbor.

Mrs. Heard, wife of the Endeavour's captain, went aboard the Philante, which steamed down the channel to surprise Captain Heard. Mrs. Heard will be the first to board the yacht.

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—A British flying officer and an American traveler lost their lives today when the Imperial Airways flying boat Coutier, sister ship of the Atlantic survey planes Cambria and Caledonia, sank in coming down in Phaleron Bay.

Crew Removed As Seas Pound Stranded Vessel

Yacht Rescues Crew of Soloy, While Salvage King Awaits Start on Salvage

Twenty-seven shipwrecked seamen from the stranded Norwegian freighter Soloy were being taken to Vancouver today aboard a coastal steamer after they were rescued from their storm-battered vessel earlier in the morning by the motor yacht Taconite.

Capt. K. Jensen, master of the big motorship, stayed aboard with Chief Officer L. Christopherson and the wireless operator. They will confer with W. G. Jordan, salvage expert from Victoria, who is alongside the stranded vessel aboard Ss. Salvage King.

The yacht, owned by W. E. Boeing of Seattle, came alongside the Soloy yesterday.

The yacht stopped by the stranded vessel on its way to pick up its owner. After removing the men to Pender Harbor, about 10 miles north of Thormanby Island, it proceeded to Campbell River.

WENT TO HOSPITAL

The men, shipwrecked since a storm lashed the Soloy against the Thormanby shore Wednesday night, were taken to St. Mary's Hospital in Pender Harbor to await the coastal steamer Lady Cecilia, which took them aboard today and headed for Vancouver. They will reach there tonight.

Captain W. R. Stacey of the Taconite sent the boat's launch to take the men from the Norwegian vessel. Two trips through heavy seas were necessary before all the crew men could be removed.

The jagged rocks of south Thormanby Island still held the Soloy fast today, while the Salvage King lay at anchor nearby, waiting for abatement of a southwest gale, before attempting to refloat the ship.

The Soloy piled up on the rocks early yesterday in a driving wind and rain storm. No survey had been made of the damage this morning because of the continued heavy weather.

The Salvage King, which left Victoria at daybreak yesterday, put into anchorage at Halfmoon Bay, five miles distant, overnight, but she returned to the side of the Soloy this morning.

Latest reports from the freighter said she was leaking in No. 2 hold forward, but that pumps were holding the water down. She was said to be in no immediate danger.

Soloy was launched in Malmo, at the southern tip of Sweden, in 1929, and is 381 feet in length, with a beam of 54 feet and a depth of 24 feet. Her home port is Oslo, Norway.

She was on her way to Powell River when she ran aground. The day previously she had come out of drydock at North Vancouver, where she was cleaned and painted and given repairs to minor heavy-weather damage.

Contract Awarded For New U.S. Ship

WASHINGTON (AP)—The maritime commission yesterday announced it had accepted the $15,750,000 bid of the Newport News Shipbuilding Company for construction of a liner to replace the laid-up Leviathan.

Joseph P. Kennedy, commission chairman, also announced it had granted the United States Lines Company a construction subsidy representing 33.13 per cent of the cost of the new ship, which must be completed within 852 days. The ship is to be built for the United States Lines.
